Course Objective:
In Latin 201 the student will study of principles of Latin grammar and will translate Latin texts. Class objectives will be accomplished through a combination of reading, composition, and grammatical analysis. The objectives of this class are:
1. to continue to learn the fundamentals of Latin grammar;
2. to continue to learn the construction of English grammar;
3. to enable the student to translate primary Latin materials.

Graduation Requirements:
The sequence Latin 101, 102, 201, 202 (or completion of the intermediate level of Latin 202) generally fulfills the College of Arts and Sciences language requirement. Your program's requirements, however, may vary. Always check with your advisor first.

F - 59

Texts:
A Latin Reader for Colleges  Harry L. Levy
Dictionary of choice
501 Latin Verbs - optional
3X5 or 5X7 cards

Class Operation:
Exams may be made up within a week of returning to the class. Work is due on due date; no late work accepted. Attendance is absolutely necessary for successful completion of the class and 5 absences and multiple make-ups will lower the grade, even a high one.

I reserve the right to make changes in this syllabus when necessary to meet learning objectives, to compensate for missed classes, or to address issues as they arise.

Students who have a disability which may impair their ability to complete necessary work on time should see me concerning necessary accommodations. The Disabilities Resource Center will provide further assistance.

Audit courses do not earn credit. The course will be noted on the transcript as AU. Instructor approval is needed and auditors need to discuss with me the work expected to warrant the audit.

Please be on time. Entering late and gathering materials early is disruptive to all. If you are late or must leave early sit near the door. Turn off cell phones during class time.

Students who decide they need tutoring should contact the REACH Center and set up tutoring sessions. Times are flexible and tutoring is a free service.

AGENDA:

The plan for the class is to translate a passage from the Levy text for half of the class time and to work on grammar skills the other half of class time. Translation work will be due on Monday and Wednesday and a grammar exercise will be due on Friday. Every Friday is a test over that week’s material, translation and grammar.
