PURPOSE / BACKGROUND

In pursuit of its mission as a public institution of higher education, the University of Louisville seeks excellence in the quality of its research, in the teaching and education it provides to its students, and in the service it provides to the broader community. Accomplishment of its missions inevitably leads to increasingly close relationships between the University of Louisville members and those with outside interests in the broader community. The benefits that potentially accrue from this proximity are accompanied by real or apparent risks that external interests might compromise University decisions by influencing the judgment of the institution or one of its members.

SCOPE OF THIS POLICY

This policy governs individual conflict of interest and applies to covered individuals at the University of Louisville (Institution). This policy covers academic, business, clinical and research transactions and activities conducted under the auspices of and / or for the benefit of the University of Louisville.

POLICY

This policy governs conflicts of interest and applies to situations involving covered individuals. It is the policy of the University of Louisville to ensure its transactions are conducted with integrity. It is the policy of the University of Louisville to require disclosure of external interests from covered individuals in order to manage, reduce, and/or eliminate identified conflicts of interest. This policy, and its associated policies, outlines the guiding principles and procedures utilized by the University of Louisville to identify and manage conflicts of interest that present a significant risk to actual or perceived objectivity of transactions conducted in the name of the University of Louisville.

The following principles shall assist covered individuals and the Institution in addressing individual conflict of interest:

- I. The Institution encourages covered individuals to engage in professional and business interaction with public and private entities. However, such professional activities can create conflicts of interest or the appearance of conflicts of interest that must be addressed.
- II. Disclosure of external and professional interests is essential to allow for review by the Institution.
- III. The Institution's review process shall assist covered individuals and the Institution in avoiding or controlling risks to the Institution's integrity and reputation, while at the same time protecting and furthering the interests of covered individuals, the Institution, and society in the activities supported by sponsored research, contributions and external relationships.
- IV. Covered individuals shall not engage in activities in which there is an unresolved conflict of interest.

The president or delegate shall:

- a) establish an oversight process and administrative policies and procedures to address individual conflicts of interest and to identify situations in which individual conflicts of interest may arise;
- b) implement a plan to manage, reduce, or eliminate individual conflicts of interest; and
- c) ensure that the oversight process, policies, and procedures established for identifying and addressing individual conflicts of interest conform to federal regulations related to conflict of interest and objectivity in research.

Annually, covered individuals must complete an Attestation & Disclosure Form (ADF), regardless of the existence of any potential conflict. Under certain circumstances, they also must file an additional ADF if a change in external and/or professional activities occurs.
