Acculturative Stress Scale for International Students (ASSIS).

I would like to make a special reference to my Acculturative Stress Scale for International

Students. There are more than 70 research studies in progress using this scale since I co-published this scale with Dr. Asrabadi in 1994. The following master thesis and doctoral dissertation are completed using this scale. Some other research studies are nearing the completion and I keeping on receiving new requests to use scale on a continuing basis, Ansari, F.P. (1996). Assessing the validity of the acculturative stress scale for international students. Unpublished master's thesis, Middle Tennessee State University.
