UofL is Offering New and Convenient Courses for Teachers!
Space is still available. Enroll Today!
(To see a complete listing of courses, go to the Online Schedule of Classes)

After School Course Samples
4:30 - 7 p.m.

Emerging Technologies
Steve Swan, steve.swan@louisville.edu
Do you have the exciting yet daunting task to stay on top of all the ways technology can be incorporated in teaching? Join Steve to learn how to create the “open classroom” where your teaching can be anywhere, anytime. This course can be applied to our NEW 12-hour Instructional Technology endorsement.

Language Knowledge and Acquisition
Tammi Davis, tammi.davis@louisville.edu
This course helps teachers understand the structure of the English language and to help diverse learners learn to read and write. The course is part of revised 12-hour ESL endorsement and open to all. (ESL endorsement can be completed by Dec. 2013).

Teaching English Learners
Dr. Yuliya Ardasheva, yyarda01@louisville.edu (For K-12 Teachers, all areas)
Do you have students who are non-native English speakers or need additional support in reading and writing? This course is packed with strategies to infuse language support in content area teaching. And, is part of the revised 12-hour ESL endorsement program. (ESL endorsement can be completed by Dec. 2013).

Late-Start Course Samples
(5 - 7:30 p.m.)

Fundamentals of Diversity
Dr. Shelley Thomas and Dr. David Owen shelley.thomas@louisville.edu
david.owen@louisville.edu
This course, conveniently located at Westport Middle School, will explore ways to support the diverse learners in today’s classrooms.

Teaching Writing P-12 (5:30 - 8 p.m.)
Jean Wolph, jean.hicks@louisville.edu
Jean Wolph, director of the Louisville Writing Project, will explore how to meet the new Common Core Standards in English/Language Arts as well as the Literacy Standards for other content areas. Differentiated materials and coursework provided for elementary, middle, and high school teachers.

Questions about additional courses?
Contact:
Tricia Bronger
502-852-1362, tricia.bronger@louisville.edu
John Finch
502-852-0583, jtfinc01@louisville.edu
See the full spring course listing at:
http://htmlaccess.louisville.edu/classSchedule/setupSearchClassSchedule.cfm

Saturday and Online Course Samples

Cognitive Coaching™ (Saturdays)
Dr. Maggie McGatha
maggie.mcgatha@louisville.edu
A highly popular training is now offered as a course credit. We bring you this in-demand opportunity on Saturdays this spring. If you are engaged in professional development and/or coaching, the skills you’ll develop in this course will be invaluable. Dr. McGatha is a certified Cognitive Coaching trainer and, therefore, you can earn a Cognitive Coaching Certificate through this training.

Literacy, Teaching, and Technology
(Blended)
Meets 5:30 - 8 p.m. on 1/15, 2/19, 4/26
Dr. Lori Norton-Meier
lori.nortonmeier@louisville.edu
This course will explore ways to infuse new literacies of emergent technologies in your classroom. E-mail Dr. Norton-Meier to enroll in this course.

Education Research P-12 (Online)
Dr. Thomas Simmons
thomas.simmons@louisville.edu
In this online course, you will explore research in education with an emphasis on understanding methodology and research design.