

Medical Jurisprudence - Introduction To Health Law

16 Sessions: January 5 - March 3, 2010

UofL Health Sciences Center, B Building, Room B106

This course is an examination of “medical jurisprudence,” which is the law, legal system, and legal reasoning related to medicine. This introduction to health law undertakes a survey of legal issues in medicine focusing on the four ultimate health care system concerns: quality; autonomy, or personhood; equitable access; and cost.
