"Looking for a Home: Health Challenges of Refugees"

Please join us for this important event which will be held at the Gatton College of Business and Economics at the University of Kentucky. This conference explores the health and social issues affecting immigrant and migrant populations. It will also provide you with the opportunity to learn about systems in place and current challenges in creating a community prepared to care for our increasingly diverse population. This conference is open to everyone and would likely be of interest to students, health professionals and public health officials working to improve the health of populations in the area.
