

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE[®]
SCHOOL OF NURSING

Welcome to the U of L Owensboro BSN Program!

To help make your experience here a positive one, please review this general information.

1. The Owensboro Campus is located on the fourth floor of the Breckenridge Medical Office Building, at 1000 Breckenridge St. Owensboro, KY 42303. If you need specific directions about where your class will be meeting, you may contact the Administrative Assistant, Donna Hartgrove (270-688-5110) or ask her when you arrive.
2. Parking: Students coming to the Owensboro Campus for classes are to park in the parking lot across from the Medical Office building on Breckenridge St. (at 9th and Breckenridge). Students who do not park in the designated area may have cars towed.
3. Books for classes: The Owensboro campus does NOT have a bookstore. To obtain needed information, you will need to access the Health Sciences Book Store site: <http://louisville-hsc.bncollege.com/webapp/wcs/stores/servlet/BNCBHomePage?storeId=29553&catalogId=10001>

At this site, enter the courses you will be taking and obtain a book list at that site. Books are the same for all sections in nursing. You may order the required books/items from the Bookstore or another provider, but please plan to order those in time to have books for the start of classes.

4. Email: You were given an email address and log in name as an admitted student. Before your first day of class, you should try to log in and establish your password for the U of L system. This email is the way information will be shared so make certain to check it early and often. The login information is ESSENTIAL to access several needed websites at U of L (i.e. Blackboard, the Library, etc.). Be sure you keep this in a safe place and have access to it the first day of class.
5. The Pathology and Pharmacology classroom in the Owensboro program includes laptop computers for student use while in class. You will be able to use the laptops for note taking, viewing PowerPoint presentations, etc. but should come prepared with a portable drive to copy your personal notes, papers etc. The laptops STAY in the classroom. Upper Division students are required to bring their own laptop computers that meet certain system requirements.
6. Blackboard: Blackboard is the course delivery system used at the University of Louisville. The faculty will use this vehicle to deliver information about class and to provide class documents. If you are not familiar with the Blackboard system, you will want to complete a tutorial before classes begin. Sign onto Blackboard and choose the HELP tab in the top of the header.
7. Food: Currently there is no cafeteria in or near the campus. Students have access to the student lounge where they may utilize two refrigerators to store food on a daily basis. There are also two microwaves available for student use.
8. Time frames: Class and clinical times posted are based on University of Louisville start times. Remember that while Louisville operates on Eastern Standard Time, Owensboro is on Central Standard Time. PLEASE make certain that you consider that in planning your schedule. If the class is offered at 9 am Louisville time, that means 8 am Owensboro time. This is particularly important for classes which are broadcast from Louisville. If you have questions about class time, you may call the Owensboro office for confirmation.
