

Premier: Season of Light

The Gheens Science Hall and Rauch Planetarium is please to announce the premier of a new seasonal show just in time for the 2009 holidays!

Plan to take time this holiday season to explore the spectrum of traditions that influence how we celebrate the season in the 21st century. Season of Light highlights the historical religious and cultural rituals practiced during the time of winter solstice – from Christian and Jewish, to Celtic, Nordic, Roman, Irish, Mexican and Hopi – as well as showcases what is behind some of the entertaining seasonal traditions such as kissing under the mistletoe.

Deepen your knowledge of the winter sky as well as your appreciation of the richness of the holiday traditions you and your family hold dear.

Season of Light will premier during our annual holiday parties on December 5 and 19, 2009, 11 am – 3:00 pm. During the holiday parties, in addition to Season of Light we will show our Holiday Laser Music Show, a fun collection of holiday music set to seasonal images. Holiday activities and games for the kids will be set up in the lobby, promising a fun time for all for the special admission price of just $5/person. What a great way to kick off the holiday season!

Show schedule December 5 and December 19

| | |
|-----------|---------------------------------|
| 11:00 am: | Season of Light |
| 11:45 am: | Holiday Laser Music Show |
| 12:30 pm: | Season of Light |
| 1:15 pm: | Holiday Laser Music Show |
| 2:00 pm: | Season of Light |