

Stress & Health Lab

<http://louisville.edu/psychology/newton/lab>

Professor: Dr. Tamara Newton

Type of position: course credit (Psyc 401), volunteer

Time commitment (include # of semesters or summer, details about scheduling e.g., must be available at specific times for lab meetings): At least one semester commitment, volunteer opportunity for summer; Must be available Mondays or Wednesdays between 12 and 4.

Semesters position is available (e.g., spring, summer, fall – include year): Spring 2016, Summer 2016

Location of work: Davidson Hall 316

Requirements (GPA, course work, experience): Must have taken 301 (Statistics). Must have taken or be currently enrolled in 302 (Research Methods). We would prefer a psychology major currently a sophomore or above.

Brief description of project: Study will examine how life experiences are associated with stress, emotion and the immune system.

Specific tasks (i.e., what student will do): Student will be involved in running participants for a laboratory based study, as well as assisting with lab administration.

How to apply: Please contact Yvette Szabo, M.A. and attach a copy of your CV or resume and unofficial transcript. Please include "Research Assistant" in the subject line.

Contact: yvette.szabo@louisville.edu