Executive Leadership Strategies: Organizational Health for the 21st Century

40-Hour Training Course - 4.0 CEUs (KLEC Approved)

Tuition: $695.00 If paid by cash/check / $725.00 If paid by Visa or Mastercard

Course Description

The course of study exposes participants to the key elements necessary for well-planned organizational change. A variety of topics and techniques will be covered that will prepare participants to engage in values-based leadership that will foster rewarding relationships with both internal and external stakeholders. The focus of the training course will serve to facilitate executive-level strategic planning and analysis.

The learning environment and case study/capstone exercise will be interactive with frequent group discussions in order to draw on the experience and expertise of the participants themselves as well as from the experience the instructors bring to the classroom. Practical and scenario-based exercises, along with case study presentations, information sharing and discussion within the class, will provide the opportunity for course participants to understand issues from many different viewpoints to assist them in operationalizing concepts as they are discussed.

Participants will be presented with material and instruction designed to facilitate and encourage a positive, developmental, forward-thinking role for a leading a values-based organization. This is accomplished by not only helping the participant to become successful, but by assisting in leading his/her agency in a successful direction.
