Greetings!

It is with great pride that we present the report on the 2015-2016 academic year at UofL Women’s Center. Our staff and student workers did a tremendous job engaging and enriching the lives of students on campus and in the community.

The Women’s Center served as the adviser for three student organizations on campus and our gathering area was often overflowing with students working on projects. Our programs are also gaining attention for their quality and attendance continues to grow! This year the Human Trafficking Awareness Conference had over 300 people in attendance and was promoted on three television stations!

We are thrilled with the increased engagement with our student parents on campus and the success of our new Angel Tree program. Through the generosity of UofL employees we were able to provide gifts for eighteen children. This program will definitely increase in size next year!

We are overjoyed to announce that the Women’s Center was asked to oversee an endowed scholarship for a single parent. This year we were able make the first award of $1,000 to a UofL student who graduated in May.

Also new this year is a community outreach project with UofL students. Partnering with the Office of Student Leadership and Service we hosted a project at the Kristy Love Foundation for Martin Luther King Day of Service and the Student Outreach Uniting Louisville (SOUL) Welcome Week activities on campus.

We are excited to report that this year we also had the largest participation in the Kentucky Women’s Book Festival and celebrated its tenth anniversary.

Please review the many leadership and development opportunities for students which are featured in the report. For these programs and our student sponsorships, the Women’s Center raised over $30,000. We are overwhelmed with gratitude and want to say a special thank you to everyone who supported and collaborated with us. Thanks you to all!

All the best,

Valerie
The UofL Women’s Center serves as a catalyst for empowering women at UofL and throughout the Louisville area. The Women’s Center comes under the purview of the Office of the Vice Provost for Diversity and International Relations.

The University of Louisville strives to foster and sustain an environment of inclusiveness that empowers us all to achieve our highest potential without fear of prejudice or bias.

The University of Louisville Operational Definition of Diversity is:
Diversity embraces all human differences while building on the commonalities that bind us together. It serves to eliminate discrimination, marginalization, and exclusion based on race, ethnicity, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, socioeconomic status, disability, religion, national origin or military status.
Mission, Motto, Vision and Goals

MISSION

The mission of the Women’s Center is to offer support and resources to empower women with the goal of promoting an inclusive and equitable campus community and to develop engaged and compassionate leaders.

MOTTO

Leading Change

VISION

Our vision is that the Women’s Center will be a safe and inclusive place of connectedness, empowerment and support for our growing multidimensional society.

GOALS

The Women’s Center carries out our mission through these goals.

♦ Support the vision of the Office of Diversity and International Affairs particularly as it relates to the multidimensional realities of women’s lives.

♦ Educate university policy makers, students, faculty, staff and community members regarding issues that affect women.

♦ Assist the University in achieving its retention and graduation goals by implementing programs that enhance, support and empower women on campus.

♦ Facilitate student development that affirms students’ identities through leadership, mentoring and personal and professional development opportunities.

♦ Support the goals of the University’s 21st Century Initiative to provide a global perspective to students.
Since its inception, the Women's Center has contributed to the university through grant funded projects, ongoing programs, and individual stand-alone programs.

The Center has shown leadership in key areas at the University, including securing external funding of $1.2 million to establish the PEACC Program and over $96,000 for the KTAP Program for single parents. Additionally, the Center provides valuable programming on women’s issues at the University and in the Community.

The Center won funding from the Lila Wallace-Reader’s Digest Foundation for the Louisville American Festival Project, “a nationally recognized coalition of artists and sponsors who use the arts…to build understanding between diverse people and forge community alliances.”

The Center won a USDOJ Grant to establish the UofL PEACC Program. Over the next six years, this funding grew to a total of $1.2 million.

The Center won a grant from the Commonwealth of Kentucky to provide “supplemental work-study like grants” for UofL students who are recipients of Temporary Assistance to Needy Families.

The Women’s Center doubled its staff and increased programs and services to students, and started a Women 4 Women student group and a Student Parent Association.

With the support of the Women’s Center the Women 4 Women Student Group began a Human Trafficking Awareness Conference for university and community members now in its sixth year and in 2012 the Women’s Center group founded the first Kentucky Statewide College Women’s Leadership Conference

The Women’s Center added a global trip focused on international women’s issues and again increased student programs to include an International Women’s Day Celebration, women’s veteran group and a graduate networking group.

Also starting in 2013 and with the support of the Associate Dean for Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies the Women’s Center now has designated office space on the Health Science Campus serving a new population of university students, staff and faculty.

AAUW at UofL was established, the first American Association of University Women student organization in the state of Kentucky.

On August 16, we celebrated the 95th Anniversary of Women Winning the Right to Vote. To commemorate the day, we had voter registration by the Jefferson County Clerk and a Reenactment of the Women’s Movement.

During our 2015 Women’s Empowerment Luncheon, we enjoyed a heartfelt speech by speaker, Sadiqa N. Reynolds, JD, President and CEO of Louisville Urban League.

Additionally, we recognized the winners of the 2015 Women’s Empowerment Award, the 2015 Mary K. Bonsteel Tachau Gender Equity Award, the 2015 Dr. M. Celeste Nichols Professional Development Award, and the 2015 Ann T. Allen Endowed Scholarship.

The Kentucky Women’s Book Festival celebrated its 10-year anniversary on March 5, 2016 with a full slate of author presentations, book signings and opportunities to mingle with fellow book lovers at UoL’s Ekstrom Library.

The Women's Center hosted a SOUL (Student Outreach Uniting Louisville) site with 10 incoming UofL Freshmen at the Kristy Love Foundation - a place of hope for survivors of human trafficking. The students and the survivors made cards full of encouragement and strength as well as a colorful wreath to greet the incoming women.

The Women's Center hosted a group of UofL students at the Kristy Love Foundation for a day of fun, service and empowerment during UofL’s MLK Day of Service.
Women 4 Women

Women 4 Women Student Board is dedicated to improving the economic self-sufficiency of women and girls in our community through grant-making and community collaboration. This is a women's professional board that prepares women to become leaders on and in the community. The focus of this board's programs are on health, education, and leadership of women.

In the past year, Women 4 Women had 5 programs with more than 400 in attendance and received $14,610 in sponsorships and fundraising.

Student Parent Association

A Support Organization for University of Louisville Student-Parents to promote the academic success of the university’s student parents; offer support services and resources to student-parents who are pursuing a college degree; and help student-parents learn to balance their personal, social, academic and professional lives.

During the past year, the Student Parent Association hosted programs such as:

- Student Parent Association Angel Tree program which ensures that no child is forgotten during the Holidays.

- Student Parent Visibility Day and Clothing Give-A-Way which raises awareness of the increasing number of non-traditional students with children on campus and gives new or gently used clothing to students for their children.

Women Veterans

The U of L Women’s Center collaborates with the Athena Sisters organization, a local women’s veterans group, to provide a safe space for learning and friendship for military women on campus and in the community. The monthly Women Veteran Lunch N’ Learn Workshop series offers various topics of interest to military women students, staff and faculty.

Previous workshop topics include:

- Family Resources
- History of Warrior Women of Kentucky
- Tribute to African American Women Veterans
- Alternative Healing

- The calendar includes events and activities related to women’s history and empowerment.
- The calendar is available online for download.

Exhibit: "Capturing Women’s History: Quilts, Activism, and Storytelling"

- The exhibit is open to the public and showcases the work of local artists who are using quilts to tell stories about women.
- The exhibit is located in the university’s art gallery.
The 2015-16 academic year was another successful year for the Women’s Center! We continued to engage UofL students, staff, and faculty, the Louisville community, and, through our online presence, an international audience. Our success continues to ensure the equity of women on campus and in the community as well as the success of all students at UofL.
