Dr. Ann Hall, Chair, called the Faculty Assembly to order at 2:00 PM.

Dr. Hall recognized President Neeli Bendapudi, who briefly reviewed ongoing COVID-19 vaccination work at the University, reminding the Assembly that vaccinations are now available to anyone over 16 years old and that Governor Beshear has indicated that restrictions on meetings of up to 1000 persons will be lifted once 2.5 million Kentuckians have been vaccinated. Dr. Bendapudi then recognized Provost Lori Gonzalez, who provided a brief enrollment update. As of Friday, April 16, A&S' undergraduate enrollment is down 287 students and graduate programs are up 250 students. More problematically, A&S's continuing student enrollment is down 222 students. Departments were encouraged to launch communication campaigns to reach out to currently-enrolled students who have not registered for fall classes to encourage them to return. Enrollment Management will work with any department seeking to launch such a communication campaign. May 1 is the unofficial commitment deadline, so departments were encouraged to act quickly.

The provost also provided the following updates:

- Since the COVID vaccines are still being provided under emergency use approval, the University will not require students to be vaccinated to return for Fall 2021 classes.
- Whether masks will be required for fall face-to-face courses will be determined using the best guidance available at that time, but the current expectation is that masks will be required in Fall 2021 courses.

When asked about plans to restore the University's retirement contributions to their previous level, Dr. Bendapudi responded that the University's first priority is financial stability. If the University is in the financial position to restore benefits, it will do so, but no guarantee can be made at this time.

The Assembly approved the March 26, 2021, minutes with 85 affirmative votes and one abstention.

The Assembly approved the graduate and undergraduate degree candidates unanimously. 90 votes were cast.

Dr. Hall next recognized Professor Sidney Williams, who presented the nominee for the 2021 Woodcock Medal, Aliyah D'Rae Brutley. 87 votes were cast, 83 affirmatives and 4 abstentions.

Dr. Hall then recognized Dr. Edna Ross, acting on the Curriculum Committee's behalf, and Dr. Andrea Gaughan, to discuss the Department of Geography and Geosciences' recent departmental vote to change the department's name to the Department of Geographic and Environmental Sciences. After a brief discussion, the Assembly approved the request. 101 votes were cast with 95 in favor and 6 abstentions.

Dr. Ross and Dr. Judith Danovitch then presented the Department of Psychological and Brain Sciences' request to close the BA in Psychology. The departmental faculty voted unanimously to close the BA, citing several reasons for this decision, most notably the fact that the BA limits majors to 40 hours, thus preventing them from engaging in undergraduate research or advanced study, and the fact that the BS in Psychology is more effective in preparing students for graduate work and securing employment. This proposal is of a pair with revisions to the BS in Psychology that were approved in the fall and will go into effect in Fall 2021. Several voices raised concerns about closing the Psychology BA, but they may be summarized as follows:

- This decision will negatively impact the Department of Classical and Modern Languages' credit hour production. Students in the BS degree complete six to eight hours of language courses whereas students in the BA degree program complete 12 hours of language courses. There are currently more than 770 students in the BA program and fewer than 300 students in the BS. If all of the PSYC majors are only required to complete the equivalent of two language courses, CML will see an important drop in language demand.
- This change may limit PSYC majors' ability to choose double majors and minors if all PSYC majors have to earn 60 PSYC credits. A student who wishes to earn a BA and a BS degree would be required to earn 151 hours.
- Some concerns were expressed that only offering the Bachelor of Science degree may scare off potential majors.
- Concern was voiced that eliminating the Calculus requirement may diminish the BS' claim to scientific rigor.

The Assembly voted to table this discussion for an anticipated May 7, 2021, meeting.

Dr. Hall next recognized Dr. Tracy Eells, Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs, and Dr. David Schultz, Chair of the Faculty Senate, to discuss the University's proposed new faculty accountability policy. Dr. Eells explained that the proposed policy is the culmination of work begun in March 2019 toward a consistent policy to address faculty misconduct, not poor performance. This policy was submitted to the Faculty Senate's executive committee for its input, but the committee requested that unit faculty provide feedback first. The Senate does not get to vote to approve this policy; rather, the Senate is preparing a response to the policy based on received feedback that will then be shared with the Office of the Provost. Persons wishing to provide additional feedback after this meeting were encouraged to direct comments to Dr. Schultz, Dr. Eugene Mueller, or one of the College's other senators. Several faculty expressed concerns that the proposed policy's language is vague, while others recommended that Redbook could be revised to codify this disciplinary procedure. The discussion was extended from 3:15 PM to 3:30 PM and then again from 3:30 PM to 3:45 PM.

The Faculty Assembly approved holding a special May 7, 2021, by a vote of 55 affirmative votes, 2 negative votes, and 3 abstentions.

The meeting was adjourned at 3:41 PM.

POLICY APPLICABILITY

This policy applies to all faculty as defined in Redbook, Article 4.1 at the University of Louisville.

REASON FOR POLICY

The University of Louisville (University) is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive work environment that promotes a culture of mutual respect with integrity, transparency, and accountability. For that reason, this policy articulates expectations for faculty conduct and establishes a process to address faculty misconduct. Its primary goal is to establish a system of “progressive discipline.” Another goal is to provide a record of the University’s attempts to address misconduct by imposing progressive discipline to successive incidents more severely and giving the faculty member an opportunity to improve conduct before imposing more severe discipline or termination. The use of progressive discipline also enables the University to show to the faculty and other employees that conduct in violation of expectations will be responded to firmly, consistently, and equitably.

POLICY STATEMENT

The University may discipline faculty when a faculty member’s conduct violates the University’s standards of conduct, policies, or when a faculty member violates federal, state, or local laws or standards of professional conduct to which the faculty member is subject. The University encourages a progressive discipline approach, which shall include a statement of areas of concern to the faculty member, action steps needed for improvement and a timeline to review progress. Progressive discipline is a constructive process that allows the faculty member an opportunity to improve conduct. Failure to demonstrate improvement may result in additional disciplinary action. Progressive discipline actions may include, but are not limited to, the following forms: (1) a verbal warning, (2) a written warning, (3) removal or reassignment of administrative or supervisory appointments, (4) restrictions on activities including university-related travel, (5) a leave of absence without pay, with prior approval of the President and Provost in accordance with Redbook 4.3.6, (6) payment of fines, penalties, or restitution, (7) a reduction in supplemental salary for a stated period, and/or (8) loss of research funds or of privileges. Following procedures described in the Redbook (Sections 4.36 and 4.3.7) the University may impose immediate discipline if the conduct or behaviors of a faculty member warrant an immediate separation from campus activities. Progressive discipline actions may culminate in the initiation of termination proceedings in accordance with Redbook Article 4.5.

Disciplinary action should consider the severity and frequency of the misconduct, its impact on the institution, and the extent to which the conduct in question deviates from standards of conduct, policies, or expectations. In all instances, the University reserves the right to take such action as it deems appropriate and which is commensurate with the nature of the misconduct, and which is consistent with the Redbook and other university policies and applicable laws.

Nothing in this policy shall impede a faculty member's right to the exercise of academic freedom as articulated in the Redbook. Nothing in this policy shall affect a faculty member's right to grieve under provisions of the Redbook, nor does this policy affect termination of service described in the Redbook (Section 4.5.)

Corrective Action

Faculty behaviors may warrant that corrective action to be taken by the faculty member. For example, a faculty member may be referred to Delphi Center for additional training.

Examples of Grounds for Discipline

Examples of conduct that warrants progressive or immediate discipline include but are not limited to the following:

1. Repeated refusal to complete University-mandated training;
2. Chronic time and attendance problems (for example, chronic lateness to start a class), including unauthorized absences;
3. Disrespectful, hostile, offensive, harassing, intimidating or discriminating conduct toward students, employees, or others, including violation of the University's policies on sexual harassment, discriminatory harassment, and retaliation;

4. Negligence that results in loss of or damage to University property or injury to other persons;
5. Inappropriate or unauthorized use of University property or resources (for example, viewing or storing pornography on a University computer, or use of a university account for non-university business purposes);
6. Failure to follow or willful disregard of University, college, school, division, or departmental policies and procedures;
7. Dishonesty, including knowingly furnishing false, misleading, or incomplete information or reports to the University;
8. Falsification of information on an employment application, on academic records, on a curriculum vitae, or in the conduct or reporting of research;
9. Theft of University property, embezzlement, or intentional misuse of procurement cards;
10. Acts or threats of violence;
11. Violations of the University's policy statement as a drug-free institution;
12. Providing alcohol or drugs to underage students on or off University property;
13. Conduct that severely disrupts the work environment;
14. Violation of federal, state or local laws.

Activities or conduct of a faculty member falling outside the scope of employment shall constitute misconduct only if such activities adversely affect the faculty member's ability to perform their duties, or the interests and/or reputation of the University.

Faculty Dispute Resolution and Grievance

Faculty members retain the right to grieve disciplinary actions that have been implemented under the regular terms of the faculty dispute resolution and grievance policy and procedures and in accordance with the provisions outlined in the Redbook, Article 4.4.

Confidentiality

All records regarding the discipline of a faculty member shall be kept confidential to the extent permissible by law.

Non-Retaliation

Consistent with the University's Non-Retaliation Policy, there shall be no retaliation against persons involved in the execution of this policy or in imposing faculty discipline. Any such retaliatory actions are a violation of this policy and subject to disciplinary action up to termination.

Non-Discrimination

University of Louisville is committed to provide equality for all persons regardless of race, sex, age, color, national origin, ethnicity, creed, religion, diversity of thought, disability, genetic information, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity or expression, marital status, pregnancy or veteran status.

PROCEDURES

When investigating possible violations of this policy, the faculty member’s supervisor shall make reasonable efforts to meet with the faculty member to discuss the faculty member’s conduct. If the matter directly involves the faculty member’s supervisor, the next-level supervisor shall initiate the procedures. The purpose of this meeting is to inform the faculty member of the concerns that have arisen and to give the faculty member an opportunity to respond. A written notice of the concerns raised shall be provided to the faculty member within ten (10) days of the meeting or within ten (10) days of the date the supervisor or next-level supervisor became aware of the possible violation. The faculty member will then have ten (10) calendar days after receipt of the notice to provide a written response.

Taking into consideration the faculty member’s response and any other information gathered, the supervisor, in consultation with the department chair, dean, or other appropriate administrative official, shall determine disciplinary or corrective action, if any. In determining the appropriate course of action, these individuals shall seek guidance from the Provost, the Provost's Office of Faculty Affairs, the Academic Unit's Office of Faculty Affairs, Human Resources, and/or the Office of University Risk, Audit, and Compliance. The purpose of such guidance is to ensure consistency in the application of discipline across the University and to ensure that all relevant policies and faculty expectations are taken into consideration. Any discipline imposed must first be approved by the individual who serves at least two levels removed from the faculty member, or one level above the individual imposing the discipline.

After discipline is determined, written notice of the decision shall be provided to the faculty member within ten (10) calendar days. Written notice shall include, but not be limited to, the nature of the misconduct; the standard of conduct, policy, law, or other expectation that was violated; the discipline to be imposed; action steps required; the date the discipline will take effect; the date by which the action steps shall be completed; and a date for progress to be reviewed. With the exception of a verbal warning, a copy of the written notice shall be placed in the faculty member's personnel record, and shall be sent to the Provost Office of Faculty Affairs. As previously noted, proceedings for termination for cause shall be administered in accordance with provisions in the Redbook, Article 4.5.

RESPONSIBILITIES

Faculty members are responsible for knowing and understanding this policy.

The faculty member's immediate supervisor and the department chair, dean, or other appropriate administrative officials are responsible for administering discipline in accordance with this policy.

The Office of the Provost is responsible for interpretation of this policy and for educating faculty and their academic units and programs about this policy and its procedures. The Office of the Provost is also responsible for regular assessment of this policy for inequities by identity group and to revise it to correct identified issues.
