Cardinal community,

Required COVID testing for faculty, staff and students will continue on the Belknap and Health Sciences campuses through Friday, Sept. 18. Anyone who is coming to campus and who has not been tested since the mandatory testing period began on Aug. 24 should schedule an appointment.

Here is the schedule:

Belknap Campus
University Club
Monday-Friday
8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Health Sciences Center
Abell Administration Building
Monday-Friday
7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and noon to 4 p.m.

Testing at these sites will continue to be available throughout the semester, and everyone is encouraged to get tested regularly.

Please note: Drive-through testing at Cardinal Stadium will be available only through noon this Friday, Sept. 11.

Since some people went home or attended social gatherings over the holiday weekend, we may see an uptick in positive cases in the coming days. We encourage anyone who is showing symptoms to contact Campus Health Services at 502-852-6446 for an appointment and rapid testing. Those who are asymptomatic but may have attended events where social distancing and mask policies were not followed are encouraged to get a test this week so the university can identify cases and work to prevent additional exposures.

To date, the university has processed about 20,000 tests, with fewer than 300 positive results. You can see the updated numbers here.

Flu shots to be available Sept. 21

The university will begin offering free flu shots to faculty, staff and students Monday, Sept. 21. The university will post a schedule in the Student News and in UofL Today next week.
