Greetings! Hola! Shalom!

We are excited for you to review our 2014-15 Annual Report. This report will give you a glimpse into what we do at the Cultural Center around retention, programs, services, events, and the past years accomplishments. We are also looking forward to providing data, demographics, trends, and important information that impacts our work and the University of Louisville student of color population.

In this year alone we have set out on new areas to help us grow as a Cultural Center, we have added new staff, aligned ourselves for the future to focus on retention, matriculation, leadership development, professional development, assessment, and new programming. All of this is geared towards creating a unique experience for our students in making them well-versed, well-rounded, and ready for the world. With a goal of being the #1 institution in the country graduating black males and increasing our overall student of color graduation rate to over 60% as we like to say at the University of Louisville “It’s Happening Here”.

We want everyone to be engaged with the work we do at the Cultural Center, now is the time for many collaborations and opportunities to partner with us. We look forward to you working with us in our cultural heritage months and many new programming ideas for the upcoming year. Our goal is to be the most well talked about and cutting edge Cultural Center in the next few years, join us on the ride!

The information on the pages that follow will provide you a deeper look into our successes, accomplishments, and achievements over the past academic year. We want to be transparent in the work we do to show our ability to reach, teach, and connect to the audiences whom we serve. We hope you will be a part of the change we are trying to create on our campus as Mahatma Gandhi is quoted as saying “Be the CHANGE you want to see”. See you in 2015-16!

Sincerely,

Tierney Bates, M.Ed., MBA
Director, University of Louisville Cultural Center
University of Louisville Cultural Center

Vision

Our vision is an inclusive and accepting campus climate free of bias and hate where students, faculty, staff, and alumni work together to create positive change in the community.

Mission and Goals

One of the five critical areas of the University of Louisville’s 2020 Plan is Diversity, Opportunity, and Social Justice. U of L is committed to creating a challenging intellectual climate enhanced by our many human differences, and this serves as the foundational objective of the programs and services provided by the Cultural Center.

More specifically, the Cultural Center creates educational opportunities for members of the university community to critically think about their beliefs, values and assumptions as it relates to culture. To fulfill our mission, we support and offer co–curricular and extra–curricular programs that acknowledge and reflect the experiences of under–represented populations. We also provide educational opportunities for all members of the campus community to examine their individual and group experiences within a culturally diverse society. The underlying goals of these two endeavors are to provide advocacy for our students, celebrate the diverse cultures of the campus community, engage students in social justice issues, and support the scholarship and retention of U of L students.

How Are We Accomplishing Our Mission & Goals?

• Provide a hub for multi–cultural student organizations
• Connect students with academic services and other resources they need to be successful
• Advise individual students and student organizations on goals and commitments
• Develop and facilitate cultural education and training for the campus community
• Facilitate multi–cultural and cross–cultural interactions within the campus community
• Partner with other campus departments and community agencies to involve students in leadership, academic, study abroad and service–learning opportunities

42nd Dr. Joseph H. McMillan National Conference on the Black Family In America

Beginning in March 1973, the conference has been a continued source for knowledge gathering for the local and regional community. The vision of the Black Family Conference is to help educate families to become more empowered, engaged, equipped and able to elevate every member to maximize the quality of life. The conference was held at the Crowne Plaza Louisville on February 26-28, 2015 and the selected theme was “50 Years of Progress and Struggle: Exploring the Continuing Transformation of Black America.”

Some of the workshops featured at this year’s conference include:

- What is a “Family”? The dynamic change from 1965-2015
- Making Fatherhood Normal
- Education, Religion, and Economic Empowerment from 1965-2015
- Dismantling the Voting Rights Act of 1965
- Responding to the transforming Black American Family
- “Hands Up, Don’t Shoot” Police Killing of Young Black Males: Implications for Social Work and Human Services
- Using a Social Justice Framework to Disrupt the School to Prison Pipeline
- All My Children: Black Families Protecting LGBTQ Youth
- Activism in Education: The Story of Kentucky’s Rosenwald Schools
- Women of Color: 50 years of Combatting Misrepresentations & Misconceptions
- Continuing the Struggle: Investigating Healthy Eating Habits Among Black Kentuckians

The banquet keynote speaker featured Dr. Julianna Malveaux, Economist, Author, and College President. The closing luncheon speaker featured Lasana Omar Hotep is a consultant, educator, and researcher committed to providing insight and practical strategies in the arenas of student development, cultural awareness, Hip hop history, and organizational efficiency. The conference was coordinated by Tamara Russell and chaired by veteran journalist, published novelist, and motivational speaker, Betty Baye.
Cultural Center Graduation Celebration

Education is a part of the strong heritage that was assiduously fought for many years. This tradition of perseverance and resolve has enabled many students to have the opportunity and privilege to not only attend but also graduate from an institution of higher education. The Cultural Center Graduation Celebration is an opportunity for the university to acknowledge the achievements of underrepresented students and for the graduates to also thank their families, friends, faculty, and mentors for their support. The purpose of this is to pay homage to the past, while celebrating the future and endless possibilities of all graduating underrepresented students at the University of Louisville.

This year’s event featured keynote speaker was Errol Wint. An alumnus of the University of Louisville, Mr. Wint currently serves as the Associate Director of Diversity Recruitment at UofL. There were 91 students in addition to approximately 150 family, friends, faculty and staff in attendance.

Heritage/Awareness Month Series

The heritage/awareness month series events were designed to celebrate the cultural diversity of the campus community through art, guest speakers, panel discussions and workshops. The Cultural Center hosted four events celebrating the heritage of Hispanic/Latinos, Native Americans, Black History Month, and Women’s Heritage month. There were a total of 81 participants in attendance. There were a total of 20 attendees at each event.

Martin Luther King (MLK) Week

The University of Louisville Cultural Center commemorated Dr. King’s legacy by hosting a weeklong schedule of special events and programs. The theme for this year’s MLK Week, Uniting the Campus: Advancing the Dream intended to create an intergenerational dialogue about the importance of making bold strides towards lasting and meaningful change. The week included a winter accessory collection drive, art display featuring local high school students, viewing of the movie Selma, MLK Dream Wall and a panel addressing the collaborations in the city of Louisville. There were a total of 193 participants who attended the various activities and 83 winter accessory items collected and donated to the House of Ruth.

AAMI Honors Awards Ceremony

2015 saw the hosting of the first annual African American Male Initiative Honors ceremony. Held on April 23rd in the Student Activity Center Multipurpose Room, the event was opened with words of welcome from The Vice Provost for Diversity and International Affairs, Dr. Taylor-Archer.

Junior Isiah Scott received the first award of the night, the "Uncle" Joe Goodman Spirit Award. Named after the original program coordinator of the African American Male Initiative, the Spirit Award is given to the student who embodies the spirit of the program through his daily actions.

The Student African American Brotherhood issued their awards as well. Freshman Joshua Cloudy was honored for his GPA as part of the 3.0 Club while Freshman Bryan Cockroft was named Brother of the Semester. Isiah Scott would have his name called once again as he was named the SAAB Brother of the Year.

Through the 2014 fall semester and the 2015 spring and summer semesters, a total of 179 African American Males graduated the university. Their accomplishments were honored and those in attendance received the AAMI Gold Shield, issued exclusively to seniors graduating from the program. The last award issued was the Dr. Michael Cuyjet AAMI Brother of the Year Award. This award honors the student who has accumulated the most academic and activity points throughout the school year with junior, Brandon Sydnor, being this year’s recipient. They evening ended with words of encouragement from the events keynote speaker Dr. Michael Cuyjet.

Woodford R. Porter Scholarship Pearl Gala: Celebrating 30 Years of Scholarship

The Pearl Gala is a newly organized premier milestone event designed to close the financial gap of scholars in need of assistance with college supplies. This event was derived by Woodford R. Porter Scholars, program advisors and Cultural Center staff in 2013 as a way to raise scholarship dollars while bringing the campus and local community for a both a beneficial and worthy cause. Named after the first African American University of Louisville Board of Trustee member, the Woodford R. Porter scholarship was created in 1984 with the intent to help African American students in the state of Kentucky who aspire to pursue higher education.

The Pearl Gala was held on Thursday, October 16, 2014 at the Gillespie. The event featured keynote speaker Dr. Ricky Jones, professor and chair of the University of Louisville Pan-African Studies Department and founding director of the Center on Race Equality. Entertainment was provided by the University of Louisville Black Diamond Choir & dance artist Shawntez Taylor. There were over 150 guests in attendance and the event raised over $6000 with proceeds benefiting the Harriet B. Porter Cancer Education Research Endowment, current Woodford R. Porter Scholarship recipients and previous recipients with financial need.
Built 2 Graduate (B2G) Workshops

The Built 2 Graduate (B2G) program series was designed to assist scholars with college transition, decision making skills, graduate school preparation and life after college preparation. Some of the topics that were featured in the series include:

- Decision-making & Goal Setting
- Personal branding
- Networking skills
- Relationships
- Study Abroad opportunities
- Resume-building
- Internships
- Writing & Effective Communication

There were a total of 166 participants who attended the workshops for an average of 16 in attendance per event.

Business Diversity Network Lecture Series

The Business Diversity Network Lecture series was designed to give local and national companies who value diversity an opportunity to network with current students. Representatives are invited to facilitate a discussion on the importance of diversity in their companies, internship and employment opportunities during lunch. This year the Cultural Center hosted five companies including Allstate Insurance, Louisville Gas & Electric, McDonald’s (local ownership group), Enterprise Rent-A-Car, and Brown-Forman Corporation. There were a total of 165 attendees and an average of 33 attendees per event.

Cultural Competency Workshops

The Cultural Competency Workshops are designed to build cultural competency for higher education professionals they can be more successful on the University of Louisville campus. These workshops included topics such as:

- Micro-aggressions
- Title IX
- Cultural competency in healthcare
- Religions and holidays
- Mental Health Among Students of Color
- Diversity in Teaching
- Diversity Consciousness
- Disability Services

There were a total of 139 attendees and an average of 17 attendees per event.

Diversity Leadership Institute

The Diversity Leadership Institute was founded with the purpose of instilling students with the knowledge and tools to be successful leaders in the campus community. The 2014-15 cohort saw 16 students selected through an application process to be in the inaugural class. Members met on a bi weekly basis and followed a curriculum which included a lecture from members of student government, a workshop on cyber identity and a presentation on conflict management. The students also coordinated their class community service project entitled Pass the Positivity, which saw them collecting positive statements from members of the campus community in exchange for free baked goods. At the conclusion of the school year, 100% of the participants had obtained leaderships positions in organizations ranging from Greek life to student housing.

Composite of the 2014-15 DLI cohort.
Association of Black Students

The mission of the Association of Black Students (ABS) is to stimulate and promote the intellectual, political, social, and cultural health of the campus and community as a whole, with a focus on the issues impacting African American students and other underrepresented groups. ABS serves as the umbrella organization for nearly 25 African American student organizations.

The goals of ABS include:

- Identify and assess the needs of African American students through meetings and electronic communications with constituents
- Provide advocacy for African American students and ABS partnered organizations
- Encourage African American students in achieving academic excellence (i.e. seek advanced degrees and increased grade point averages)
- Increase the awareness of the entire University of Louisville community on issues impacting the African American community by sponsoring programs, speakers, works and cultural events

During the 2015-16 academic year ABS had a total of 16 events that included a focus on retention, social, and service. Some events included:

- TRILL Tuesdays Discussion Series: Being Black & LGBTQ
- Ugly Sweater Social
- Service Saturdays Community Service Project
- Meditation & Relaxation

A total of 793 participants attended with an average of 50 per event.

Black Diamond Choir

The Black Diamond Choir (BDC) is a one hour credit course offered at the University of Louisville each semester and listed as Music 109. Organized in 1969, the student gospel group has been singing and sharing the “Good News” locally and in various locations within Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Ohio, and Georgia. BDC participated in a number of singing engagements including the University of Louisville President's Motivation event, Porter Scholarship Pearl Gala, and the 2015 Spectacular. The year ended with their performance during the National Choir College Explosion where the choir won Fan Favorite and their annual Spring Concert which featured the Kentucky State University Gospel Ensemble.
Latin American Hispanic Student Organization

The Latin American and Hispanic Student Organization (LAHSO) is a recognized student organization (RSO) founded in 2009. As cultural ambassadors, LAHSO participants engage UofL students, faculty/staff, and other community members in fun, educational, and culturally inclusive events that celebrate our rich diversity—while fostering the importance of pursuing higher education.

In 2014-2015, LAHSO grew to 116 registered members. It hosted a variety of events including monthly General Board Meetings where important updates including scholarships, professional development workshops, and volunteering opportunities at La Casita Center (a non-profit organization created to enhance the wellbeing of Hispanic/Latino women and children) were provided. Other events included Dia de los Muertos (Day of the Dead), Carnaval (Carnival), Salsa Night, potluck and karaoke, RSO Fairs, Early Arrival Program, UofL campus tours to high school students, and dinner/presentation with Cuban poet Richard Blanco. To make these events possible, LAHSO partnered with other UofL and community groups, such as The Cultural Center, the LGBT Center, DuPont Manual High School, the Commission on Diversity and Racial Equality (CODRE), the Latin American and Latino Studies Student Club, Student Activities Board, and the Lambda Theta Phi Latin Fraternity, Inc. Over 325 people total attended our events throughout this academic year.

Student African American Brotherhood

This year, the University of Louisville Student African American Brotherhood (SAAB) saw their 9th year on campus. The chapter’s mission is to increase the graduation rates of African American males across campus and they pursued this mission through weekly general body meetings featuring guest speakers on topics ranging from academic resources to financial planning. This year, the African American Male Initiative sponsored four members of SAAB to attend the SAAB National Leadership Conference in Detroit, Michigan. At the end of the year, SAAB gave its annual awards with Isiah Scott being named Brother of the Year. Bryan Cockroft was awarded the Fall Brother of the Semester award while Joshua Cloudy was admitted into the SAAB 3.0 Society. Mr. Cloudy was also voted as the next SAAB president leading into the 2015-2016 school year.
Society of Porter Scholars

The Society Porter Scholars is the largest African American student organization at the University of Louisville. The society’s mission is to work for its members to encourage the maintenance of high academic standards, enhance leadership development, work diligently to provide services for the community and cultivate understanding for the heritage of its scholarship recipients while having a focus on the retention and graduation of its membership.

During the 2014-15 academic year Porter had a total of 18 events that focused on retention, social events, and community service. These events included:

- Study With Porter
- College Application Assistance Project
- Thanksgiving with Porter
- Selma Movie Screening
- Porter Graduates Professionals series
- MLK Day of Service

A total of 543 participants attended with an average of 30 per event.

Garden Commons

In 2010, the Cultural Center embarked on a ground-breaking initiative to proactively “go green”. In partnership with campus and community organizations including Louisville Grows, the Cultural Center kicked off a monumental student-led initiative to develop a community garden on campus. This garden is a physical addition to the Center’s evolving energy-conscious policies and actions.

This year the garden has additional labeling, installation of all new plants, and an intern who has developed the layout of the garden and built an aquaponics system in the greenhouse. The garden also received quite a bit of campus attention through an interview with a representative from The Cardinal as well as being included in a graduate research study.

The Garden Commons continues to remain vibrant and serves as a welcoming and active food source. A staff person from the Cultural Center serves on the Sustainable Operations Committee to report the progress and plans of the garden on a monthly basis as well as partnering with other sustainable initiatives on campus such as the Belknap Farmers Market to increase awareness of sustainable options.

The Cultural Center retention program was designed to provide supplemental support for under-represented students at the University of Louisville. Students who participated in the Cultural Center retention program are invited to participate in a year long program that includes individual coaching, personal/professional development focused programming and REACH support services. These students include the African American Male Initiative (AAMI), Excellence through Effort (Excel), Hispanic/Latin@ Initiative (HLI), and the Woodford R. Porter Scholars. Students who are not participants in the Cultural Center Retention Program also have the opportunity to receive support from the Cultural Center staff.

As part of the Cultural Center Retention Program coaching plan, students are asked to attend a predetermined number of coaching appointments.

During the Fall semester first time freshmen (FTF) are asked to meet with their support coaches three (3) times and upperclassmen, which include sophomores, junior and seniors, are asked to meet with their support coach two (2) times. During the Spring semester, freshman whose cumulative GPA at or above their requirement meet with their support coach (2) times and three (3) times if their GPA is below their requirement.

Note: The requirement for AAMI, Excel, & HLI participants is 2.5 and the requirement for Porter Scholars is 3.0 due to a scholarship requirement.

The Cultural Center staff met with a total of 713 Cultural Center Retention program participants during the 2014-15 academic year for a total of 1176 appointments. During the 2014-15 year, the Cultural Center staff also made 1790 individual contacts with students for a variety of reasons including academics, financial aid, student organization information and personal concerns.

Early Arrival Program

The Cultural Center Early Arrival Program (EAP) was created to help ease the transition of incoming Cultural Center Retention Program participants, from high school to college. The Early Arrival Program took place on August 20-21, 2014. Through an enriching series of discussions, events and networking activities the program aims to teach incoming students to be an active and engaged student at the University of Louisville. The participants included:

African American Male Initiative:
The mission of this initiative is to implement strategies to improve graduation rates among UofL’s African American undergraduate males.

Excel:
The Excel Program is designed to provide intrusive advising support and connect students to critical academic and campus resources which may encourage their success at the university. The overall goal of the program is to improve students’ academic performance and retention.

Hispanic & Latino Initiative:
The mission of this initiative is to build a strong support system for Hispanic and Latin@ students at UofL through programs and events that explore the many Latin@ and Hispanic identities, leadership development, coaching and mentoring, campus wide resource sharing, and community collaborations.

Woodford R. Porter Scholar:
The mission and purpose are to provide academic, personal & professional support and to all recipients of this scholarship.

During the program students attended workshops & received information the Cultural Center Retention program expectations and requirements, tips on how to be academically successful in their college courses, and the university flight plan. Incoming students also interacted with current students, faculty and staff during a networking panel event. The event concluded with a BBQ & RSO fair which allowed incoming students to connect with some of the university’s recognized student organizations. There was a 21.98% increase in the attendance from 2013. There were a total of 172 incoming students who participated in the Early Arrival Program. Of the total there were 6 African American Male Initiative participants, 46 Excel, 6 Hispanic & Latino Initiative, and 112 Woodford R. Porter Scholarship program participants. There were also 262 in attendance at the BBQ, an increase of 5.64% from 2013.

African American Male Initiative

The African American Male Initiative (AAMI) was founded in the fall of 2011 as a program to increase African American male retention and graduation rates at the University of Louisville. At its inception, the program began with a 50 student cohort. In the past three years, the program has grown to service the university’s African American Male population as a whole through its various activities.

In the fall 2014 semester, 546 full time African American male students were enrolled at the university. Of this population, 152 were on the freshmen level, 131 were on the sophomore level, 147 were of junior status and 116 had achieved senior status. In the spring 2015 semester, 485 full time African American male students were enrolled at the university. Of this population, 117 were on the freshmen level, 110 were on the sophomore level, 138 were of junior status and 120 had achieved senior status.

Of the 2014-2015 African American male population at the university, 60 students showed some level of interest in AAMI; a 50% increase from the previous year. Students participated in monthly Graduation Prep Sessions covering a variety of topics from Basic Campus Resources to Greek Life on Campus to Interactions with Law Enforcement. On the academic front, students also participated in bi-weekly study hall sessions hosted in the Cultural Center multipurpose room. Students also got the opportunity to take part in various social activities including the annual NPHC Step Show, movie outings, group trips to University sporting events and college night at the Downs After Dark series hosted by Church Hill Downs.

Of these students, 22 were at the freshmen level, 9 were sophomores, 12 were juniors and 17 were seniors. The overall cumulative GPA for AAMI was a 2.67. The seniors averaged a cumulative GPA of 2.94, juniors averaged a cumulative GPA of 2.46 sophomores averaged a cumulative GPA of 2.56 and freshmen averaged a cumulative GPA of 2.66. There were a total of 90 students who utilized the REACH support services on 1446 occasions. AAMI participants accounted for 1774 hours of tutoring, supplemental instruction, etc.

This year saw the launching of the program’s new signature community outreach program, Junior AAMI. Through this initiative, the students were able to share their experiences along with vital college information to over 60 high school students at Central High School. Through monthly meetings, students learned about topics such as masculinity, financial aid and Greek Life to name a few. Groundwork has begun to expand the program to Southern High School for the 2015-2016 school year.

The year also saw the first annual AAMI Honors ceremony; an evening to honor the achievements of the AAMI students. The event was held in the Student Activity Center’s multipurpose room. At the event, awards were issued to the members of the Student African American Brotherhood. In addition, 17 graduating seniors were honored for their accomplishments at the University.

Two new AAMI awards were given on this night as well. Named after the previous program coordinator, the Joseph Goodman Spirit Award honors the student who embodies the spirit of the African American Male Initiative through his daily actions. This year’s Spirit Award recipient was Isiah Scott, a junior pre-medical major who served as the Vice President of the Student African American Brotherhood for the 2014-2015 school year. Mr. Scott was also awarded the Student African American Brotherhood Brother of the Year award later in the evening.

The other AAMI award given in the evening was the AAMI Man of the Year Award. Students participated in a yearlong competition which measured their academic achievements, program participation, campus event participation and community service endeavors. Students were awarded points for qualifying events with the student earning the highest number of points being named AAMI Man of the Year. The recipient of the award was Mr. Brandon Sydnor, a junior level exercise science major.

Excel Program

The Excellence through Effort (Excel) program is offered to first-year students who do not meet the university’s admission requirements. This program offers structured academic support and counseling to assist the success and academic development in the first year of college. This is a collaborative program between the Admissions Office, Resources for Academic Achievement (REACH) and the Cultural Center. The Office of Admissions supports the EXCEL program as a requirement in its initial letter of admission and in other communications with students. The EXCEL Program is designed to provide intrusive advising support and to connect students to critical academic and campus resources which may encourage their success at the university. The overall goal of the EXCEL Program is to improve students’ academic performance and retention, as measured by first semester GPA and second semester enrollment.

During the 2014-15 academic year there 118 Excel first time incoming freshmen during the Fall and 121 enrolled for the Spring semester. Of these students, 77 utilized REACH support services a total of 478 times. The students combined to use these services a total of 557.48 hours.

Programming

There were two Excel workshops presented for the Excel students during the spring 2015 semester. The first workshop held on January 29, 2015 was presented by Adam Robinson from the Writing Center. He provided audience members with an introduction to college writing. Specifically, he addressed strategies for understanding assignment prompts, writing thesis statements, and getting started on a writing project. In addition to covering these topics, Adam also offered an overview of Writing Center services along with how students can best utilize these services.

The second workshop held on February 3, 2015 was presented by Jeff Rushton from the Department of Communication. This session “Personal Branding” provided students with a basic understanding of what branding is and how personal branding can impact their student experience and also their career. Jeff also discussed how students can protect their “brand” and improve or create an impressive brand for their job hunt after college (or during).
Hispanic/Latin@ Initiative

The mission of the Hispanic & Latino Initiative is to build strong support systems for Latino students at UofL through programs and events that explore our many identities, develop leaders, provide coaching and mentoring for life success, share campus resources, and build community and campus collaborations.

In the fall 2014 semester, 484 full time Hispanic & Latino students were enrolled at the university. Of this population, 158 were freshmen, 108 were sophomore, 98 were juniors and 120 were seniors. In the spring 2015 semester, 425 full time Hispanic & Latino students were enrolled at the university. Of this population, 87 were freshmen, 119 were sophomore, 102 were juniors and 117 were seniors.

The overall cumulative Fall GPA for the HLI was 2.78 and the cumulative GPA for the Spring was 2.82. There were a total of 59 students who utilized the REACH support services on 743 occasions. HLI participants accounted for 843 hours of tutoring, supplemental instruction, etc.

Year in Review

The Hispanic & Latino Initiative hosted ten (10) events during the 2014-15 academic year with an average of 13 people attending each event. We also regularly attracted students, faculty, staff, and community members to our programs.

In addition to these events, other highlights from this year are the Kentucky LEAD Conference hosted by Bluegrass Community and Technical College (BCTC) and the National Institutions Coming out Day through United We Dream that UofL hosted on April 7th, 2015 to stand up as educators who support undocumented students and their families.

We are working hard to make UofL inclusive for all students which include our leadership in UofL DREAMers Taskforce and Organizer for the Core Team of the Louisville Latino Education Outreach Program of K’LEA.

2014-2015 Program Highlights

- Hispanic Heritage Month Kick Off
- Latino Cultural Awareness Trainings
- Connecting Firms with Hispanic Talent

Woodford R. Porter Scholarship Program

The Woodford R. Porter Scholarship program is the largest scholarship organization at the University of Louisville. Named for the first African-American trustee for the University of Louisville, Mr. Woodford R. Porter, Sr., it was created in 1984. The objective of the organization is to provide not only academic but also personal, professional and educational support to all recipients of this prestigious award. Created by the first student members, there are four (4) pillars or principles of Porter that guide the organization. These pillars include scholarship, leadership, service, and heritage.

Scholarship Performance

During the 2014-15 academic year there 520 Woodford R. Porter Scholars were enrolled at the university. Of this population, 181 were freshmen, 116 were on the sophomore level, 90 were of junior status, 128 had achieved senior status and 5 were classified as graduate students (the scholarship allows students in the Speed School Engineering programs an extra year to pursue a Master’s degree.) Of these students, 151 utilized REACH support services a total of 2195 times. The students combined to use these services a total of 2627 hours.

The average cumulative GPA during the Fall 2014 semester was a 3.01 an increase from a 2.96 in Fall 2013. The average cumulative GPA for the Spring 2015 semester was a 3.00 an increase from a 2.98 in Spring 2014. The total number of students during the 2014-2015 academic year receiving an automatic renewal of their scholarship was 278 (63%) up from 57% during the 2013-2014 academic year. There were a total of 94 Porter Scholars who graduated during the 2014-15 academic year.

In addition to their strong academic performance, the Woodford R. Porter Scholarship program saw an increase in participation in programming. Of the 520 students, 302 students attended at least one of the seven events by the program. These events included a scholarship gala and general body meetings. Each meeting featured a university faculty/staff member who discussed various topics including:

- Student Engagement: Student Government Association & Student Activities Board
- Study skills
- Life After College: Financial Management
- Resume building
- Networking & Teambuilding
- Life After College: Graduate School Preparation
