Dreams with Wings

<http://www.dreamswithwings.org/children-services/>

Dreams with Wings offers two summer camp programs for youth ages 8-21 diagnosed on the autism spectrum and Down Syndrome. These eight week camps run June-July and can be paid via the Michelle P Waiver or private pay. Both camps offer a summer of fun, physical activity, and learning!

PATH Summer Camp for Students who are Blind or Visually Impaired

The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation- Division of Blind Services is happy to announce that the PATH Program for students who are blind or visually impaired will once again be offered in July. This program takes place at the McDowell Center in Louisville Kentucky.

Individuals participating in the program must meet the definition of a student with a disability under Pre-ETS. This means that they must be 14-21 in an educational setting. Any student that will graduate prior to the program must be heading into post-secondary training in order to be able to attend.

The program will address pre-employment skills in addition to work on blindness skills such as Braille, technology, home and financial management, keyboarding, and other skills needed to prepare for transitioning into post-secondary education or the world of work. The program is free. Students will be sent home on the weekends.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me or Mary Harrod at the McDowell Center.

Summer Camps 2019

Gheens Science Hall & Rauch Planetarium

The planetarium offers rich, engaging, summer camps that spark a life-long love of science. Activities are designed to help kids learn to work cooperatively as well as individually while building inquiry and problem solving skills.

Family members get a $50 discount

Space Adventure Camp (entering grades 2-4)

Space Adventure camp leads kids on a warp-speed exploration of our universe. Campers plunge into astronaut training activities, create comets, launch rockets, build telescopes and much, much more in this engaging, hands-on camp.

"My daughter LOVED it! :) We loved seeing her projects when she came home. Staff was very friendly!" Beth T.

Space Exploration Camp (entering grades 5-6)

Campers probe with probes, design solar ovens, craft human sun dials, and experience astronaut training while exploring human interactions with space in this technology rich, interactive camp. Kids end the week with testing their Mars Landers with an egg drop!

Summer Camps 2019

"Staff and activities were engaging. Lessons learned were age-appropriate. Overall, there seemed to be a good mix of educational and fun activities throughout the week." Will A.

Space Engineering Camp (entering grades 7-9)

Space is a hostile environment to humans, which can complicate things for space engineers. During this camp, kids will engage in a variety of tasks designed to model some of the challenges humans encounter in the exploration of space.

"I work for NASA so my son is around space activities all the time. He raves about this camp! It is a testament to the high quality programming the planetarium offers." Jennifer S.W.

PATH

Plans to Achieve Transition Program
July 7th – July 26th, 2019 at
The Charles W. McDowell Rehabilitation Center

This 3 week program targets those that have completed their sophomore and junior years; however it is open to all high school students. The purpose of the program is to help students with visual disabilities prepare for life after high school. The program is free to all students. The PATH Program has two components. The first component is a pre-employability skills training program where students will learn more about their vocational interests and the basics of getting and keeping a job. The second component involves blindness skills training. Students will be exposed to Braille, orientation and mobility, assistive technology, and home management. In addition, several community activities are planned throughout the program some of which include tours of local businesses, horseback riding, movies, and much more!

Dormitory available Monday thru Friday.

PATH Summer Camp for Students who are Blind or Visually Impaired

The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation- Division of Blind Services is happy to announce that the PATH Program for students who are blind or visually impaired will once again be offered in July. This program takes place at the McDowell Center in Louisville Kentucky.

Individuals participating in the program must meet the definition of a student with a disability under Pre-ETS. This means that they must be 14-21 in an educational setting. Any student that will graduate prior to the program must be heading into post-secondary training in order to be able to attend.

The program will address pre-employment skills in addition to work on blindness skills such as Braille, technology, home and financial management, keyboarding, and other skills needed to prepare for transitioning into post-secondary education or the world of work. The program is free. Students will be sent home on the weekends.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me or Mary Harrod at the McDowell Center.

Summer Programs for ages 3-18

Every year, our Summer camps, workshops, and performance opportunities for kids delight, enchant, and challenge young people ages 3-18 with a wide range of offerings.

Our youngest students can participate in fun Art and Imagination-based camps that teach the fundamentals of creative expression, teamwork, and even the creation or performance of a short play! The Summer Academy is a perennial favorite for 8-13 year olds, with kids working on a hilarious one-hour play that they perform at the end of each 3-week session. Middle and high school ages can enroll in challenging Skill-Building Workshops that focus on anything from Shakespeare to Acting to Dramatic Writing, and more.

Summer Academy

For three weeks, kids (ages 8-13) work with Walden Theatre Conservatory directors on a fully-produced play. This year's play is James and the Giant Peach, sure to delight young actors and audiences alike! Students every year get the exciting experience of rehearsing and performing a play complete with sets, props, and costumes. Several sessions available.

Pre-School & Imagination

Kids expand their imaginations (ages 5-7) with a two-week Imagination Junior Academy that teaches artistic expression and imaginative storytelling through this year's "You Are My Sunshine." Preschoolers in a choice of sessions for ages 3-5 get their 1st theatrical experience. In addition, children in one-week Fine Art camps (ages 5-11) create mixed media masterpieces!

Skill-Building

Young actors ages 9-18 sharpen skills in a range of workshops ideal for middle & high schoolers, from the challenging three-week Shakespeare Intensive to the 2-week Contemporary Acting Intensive taught by alumni that's based on techniques studied at top BFA programs. Audition Skills and Scene & Song Study explore other sides of theatre, rounding out the summer.

CAMP SHAKESPEARE

Camp Shakespeare fosters an appreciation for the words and works of William Shakespeare by providing opportunities for children and young adults aged 4-18 to explore the theatre arts through imaginative play, visual arts, movement, storytelling, design, text analysis, and more!

When school's out, Shakespeare's in!

Camp Shakespeare fosters an appreciation for the words and works of William Shakespeare by providing opportunities for children and young adults aged 4-18 to explore the theatre arts through imaginative play, visual arts, movement, storytelling, design, text analysis, and more!

Our Philosophy is to immerse students in Shakespeare's words and ideas, providing guidance and encouragement. Kentucky Shakespeare hopes that this unique camp experience will promote confidence, open up a new world of interests to your child and nurture a lifelong desire of learning.

Stipend: $1275 for 2 sessions*

Location: Louisville, KY (University of Louisville)

Design the Future (youdesignthefuture.com) is a 6-day, fully immersive design thinking summer program. It partners teams of high school students with an individual living with a physical disability. Over the course of the program, students learn about disability and are taught to design solutions to real problems faced by their Project Partner. The program exposes high school students to real-world challenges; gives them a hands-on STEM education through the use of laser cutters, 3d printers, and other tools; and teaches them mindsets around conflict resolution and self-improvement. At the end of the program, each student group presents its final design and high-resolution prototype during a Project Partner and family attended presentation.

Design the Future was created by DC Design (dcdesignltd.com) in 2015 and be launched the University of Louisville, in 2019. Students receive design and manufacturing mentorship from the Lead Facilitators (head of the program), Coaches (university students or recent alums), and Project Partners (individuals living with disabilities who are passionate about mentorship).

Lead Facilitators run the show. The Tech Lead Facilitator is a key part of the two-person leadership team, in charge of all portions of mentorship and execution involving materials, shop, makerspace skills, or engineering. She or he is a practiced teacher who is organized, relationship-minded, and adept at handling new situations. (Experience in Design Thinking is a plus.) A Design Lead Facilitator will also be hired to act as liaison with DC Design and ensure everything is running smoothly.

The Tech Lead Facilitator will act in partnership with the Design Lead Facilitator, supporting on-the-ground operations, keeping the schedule, and coordinating with the makerspace, Project Partners, Coaches, and university. The Tech Lead Facilitator's main goal is to teach students the maker side of design, help them produce the best product solutions possible, and above all, ensure all students and staff remain safe in their use of tools. The TFL will evaluate student designs and help students and Coaches, who sometimes do not have engineering or design background, to improve the products they are building (while allowing them to fail cheerfully and learn from failure). During the program, Lead Facilitators teach modules, ensure designs are on track, manage material availability, guide students through sticking points in their design and manufacturing process, and help the Design Lead Facilitator handle interpersonal situations that arise. Before the camp, the Design Lead Facilitator schedules and executes a training with the Coaches, and the Tech Lead will be expected to attend and support with limited lead-up logistics. Lead Facilitators will be flown to California for a training in the first half of 2019.

The Tech Lead Facilitator will have the following responsibilities, among others:

- Teach students the maker side of design, evaluate their designs, and help them produce the best product solutions possible
- Ensure all students and staff remain safe in their use of tools and the makerspace
- Manage material availability
- Support in ensuring the program's many moving pieces are in alignment during the program and keeping the day-to-day schedule
- Calmly and responsibly manage conflict, crises, and other situations that arise
- Collaborate with the Design Lead Facilitator on decisions and responsibilities ahead of and during the program
- Remain consistently communicative with Design Lead Facilitator and DC Design
- Support in coordinating with Project Partners during the program
- Attend the Coaches Training
- Get to know the Coaches and ensure they're supported
- Fill in for any Coaches who get sick or cannot attend during the program
- Keep up the energy for the coaching team (6-12 Coaches + Tech Lead Facilitator) and students (30-60)
- Keep long hours including preparation for next day, home depot runs, and clean up

- Complete 3-day training in California in winter or spring of 2019
- Preference: use personal car to transport materials and run necessary errands

Application Instructions:

- Please apply at youdesignthefuture.com. Applicants will be asked to submit the following:
 - A 2-sentence description of why you would like to be Design Lead Facilitator
 - Your availability for training and Design the Future programs
 - A video 3 - 5 minutes in length answering questions such as the following:
 - What's the most important thing you've ever taught someone?
 - Tell us about your experience working with teenagers.
 - A student's prototype breaks right before testing it with a Project Partner -- what's your next move?
 - What is your background in Design Thinking? Have you taught it before?
 - What is your experience working with individuals with disabilities?
 - Each Design the Future program is 6 days long. What is your availability during the summer of 2019?

*Note to candidate: If availability is only one week, please let us know. We'd like to see what we can do to work with your schedule!

About

Founded by Elizabeth Turner Campbell in 2004, The Center for Courageous Kids is a medical camp in Scottsville, Kentucky providing a cost-free, safe, and fun camping experience for seriously ill and disabled children and their families. Our mission is to uplift children who have chronic medical conditions and life-threatening illnesses by creating experiences year-round that are memorable, exciting, fun, build self-esteem, are physically safe, and medically sound.

Each fall and spring, we have 20 illness-specific Family Retreat weekends for campers ages 3 to 17 and their families. In the summer, The Center for Courageous Kids offers 9 weeks of traditional summer camp for children ages 7 to 15 with chronic medical conditions and life-threatening illnesses.

April 1, 2019

Dear Family Member or Person with ASD,

I would like to invite your participation in a summer initiative that is an annual part of EKU's Autism Certificate Program for EKU graduate students in Occupational Therapy, Psychology, Communication Disorders, and Special Education.

Each summer I teach a course about the autism spectrum. Graduate students enrolled in the course will be asked to complete an assessment and intervention planning project with a person with autism and/or their family (for children). The process will use the promising CAPS and Ziggurat models to assess the unique strengths and needs of the person with autism and will result in a short written feedback report that families can keep for their own use or share with an education or intervention team. Past participants have enjoyed the ideas and suggestions that our students have provided in the little report.

If you are interested and are selected to participate, you would be asked to complete two quick written measures about yourself/your family member with ASD. You would also participate in interview/meeting planning processes for approximately 2 hours, scheduled at your convenience. Finally, a graduate student may ask to observe or meet with the family member with autism. If meeting isn't comfortable for the person with autism, the student can instead view a video of the person. These meetings would take place at a time and location of your convenience during June or July, 2019.

These activities and the resulting report would of course be provided at no charge to you. Please feel free to e-mail me (myrabeth.bundy@eku.edu) with any questions and with your answers to the questions below. We appreciate your participation in our clinic and your consideration of our summer project.

Sincerely,

Summer 2019 Picturing Friendship Group

Sponsored by: EKU Psychology Clinic

This summer we will be hanging out with friends!

WHAT IS IT?

EKU Psychology Clinic Summer Social Group is designed for verbal teens (aged 13-16) with an Autism Spectrum Disorder. We welcome anyone who can participate in our activities. We want to offer opportunities to gain rewarding social and leisure skills and meet new people.

WHEN IS IT? Wednesday Evenings from 5-6:30!

Meeting 1: May 29

Meeting 2: June 5

Meeting 3: June 12

Meeting 4: June 19

Meeting 5: June 26

Meeting 6: July 3

Meeting 7: July 10

Meeting 8: July 17

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

There is a one-time fee of $35 (cash or check only) for group participation. This fee is to be paid prior to or at the first group meeting. It will cover materials used in the group including snacks and activities.

WHERE IS IT?

All meetings will be in the Cammack Building, room 120, at Eastern Kentucky University.

WHAT WILL WE DO?

This group will use some learning curricula, as well as practice activities, to support each participant's functional applications of skills needed for teen socialization. This group's focus will be on learning social skills in various social situations, like movie nights and game nights! We hope to build participants' confidence when navigating social situations, from social activities such as ordering a pizza with a group of friends, to more complex interactions, like maintaining conversation. Before our first group meeting, the teens will be asked to take a picture of what friendship means to them; they will talk about this picture with a group leader.

WITH WHOM WILL WE BE WORKING?

Group facilitators will include doctoral graduate students from the Psychology program at ECU. They will be working with participants in reaching your learning goals for this group. The group will be supervised by Dr. Myra Beth Bundy, a licensed doctoral level psychologist.

HOW DO I RESERVE MY SPOT?

To reserve your spot, please call the ECU Psychology Clinic at (859) 622-2356 and leave a message for Sarah Critchfield with the participant's contact information. You may also e-mail your RSVP to Sarah Critchfield at sarah.critchfield@eku.edu.
