Center Spotlight: KATC

<http://louisville.edu/education/kvautismtraini ng/about>

The mission of the Kentucky Autism Training Center (KATC) is to strengthen our state's systems of support for persons affected by autism by bridging research to practice and by providing training and resources to families and professionals. KATC is committed to improving the quality of life for those affected by autism spectrum disorder (ASD).

Primary goals of the center:

- Provide resource information and evidence based professional development training for the systems of support for individuals with ASD in education, early childhood, mental health, and employment.
 - Empower families through providing resource, services and support information and evidence based training opportunities (i.e. videos, workshops)
 - Provide outreach through the development and dissemination of resource materials, videos, and other evidence-based information for the community
 - Develop evidence-based models and practices for educators, schools and families
 - Build regional capacity through a collaborative partnership with the Kentucky Department of Education to develop training and technical assistance for schools and school districts
- See the following page to learn more about University of Louisville Autism Center (ULAC)

Attestation & Disclosure Form

Reminder: As summer research projects begin, any individual receiving any portion of their compensation through an externally funded project and any individual participating in research under UofL must complete their annual Attestation and Disclosure Form (ADF) requirement before participation on projects.

This includes students, faculty, and staff.

Check out the Office of Research's website: <http://louisville.edu/education/research>

Be on the lookout for exciting workshops and events in 2018 on our events tab!
Special thanks to Eric in the ERTC for his continued help with the website!

Research Collaborations Hosted by the University of Louisville
Autism Center (ULAC)

The University of Louisville Autism Center offers multidisciplinary services, statewide training, and collaborative research opportunities for scientist practitioners interested in assessing, treating, and investigating autism spectrum disorders (ASD). As part of these efforts, the center hosts monthly collaborative research meetings, where scientists from various schools and departments come together to share their work with a cross disciplinary audience. For more information about these meetings, please contact Dr. Gail Williams at patricia.williams@louisville.edu.

Doctoral Student Opening Session

The Doctoral Student Opening Session will be on Saturday, August 18th from 9:00 am - 12:00 pm in the Porter Building. Look for more details to come via email. New Ph.D. students should be sure to contact their department regarding program-specific orientations. All doctoral students who are interested in attending are welcome. Come out and join the Office of Research in welcoming our new doctoral students!

Be looking for information from your department and doctoral program coordinators soon.

Please also see the School of Interdisciplinary & Graduate Studies website (found here:

<http://louisville.edu/graduate/>) for information regarding their opening session.

2018 Summer Dissertation Camp

Are you a CEHD doctoral student working on your dissertation? Attend the summer doctoral dissertation writing camp hosted by the Office of Research! FREE!

Plan to attend on three consecutive Saturdays, June 9th, 16th, & 23rd from 8:30 am – 4:00 pm in rooms 116 & 117 in the Porter Building.

For more information or to register contact Taylor Brown

Transcription Services

The Office of Research regularly receives inquiries from faculty and students about recommended vendors. We have heard great reviews about Transcription Express! (www.transcriptiontyping.com) and Babbletype (<http://babbletype.com>)

Other recommended resources include:

RM Editing and Research Services (www.RMedit.com) and Landmark Associates Inc. (www.thelai.com).

If anyone has a transcription service to recommend please email christine.payne@louisville.edu so we can share with those who are interested.

Grawemeyer Award in Education

Congratulations to the winner of this year's prestigious Grawemeyer Award!

Dr. Sara Goldrick-Rab was awarded the 2018 University of Louisville Grawemeyer Award in Education for her 2016 book, Paying the Price: College Costs, Financial Aid, and the Betrayal of the American Dream. Her research reveals the overwhelming struggles college students are facing in the areas of debt, confounding life experiences, and myths surrounding financial aid. This book intends to be a "wake-up call" for the public and institutions who are mired in this broken system of financial assistance.

Dr. Goldrick-Rab held a public lecture during Grawemeyer Week that you can find here, under Archives: <http://louisville.edu/education/about/grawemeyer>

2018 Spring Research Conference

On March 24th the University of Louisville Research Office hosted this annual conference, attended by UofL, UK and UC graduate students. The event was a success, allowing students a friendly, yet formal, setting to receive constructive feedback on their current research from faculty and colleagues.
