1. Access a Content Area in the Course, i.e. Course Content/Schedule or Assignments

![Course Content/Schedule screen]

Note To Instructors: How to Use This Section

Although this format is recommended, you may need to remove all of these items so you can create a class schedule that is more conducive to your class or program. You may do so by removing this Course Content/Schedule menu item.

How to Use This Section - Students

This page contains the core of your learning activities for the course. Each session contains information on the required readings, course materials to be reviewed, the "lecture" for the session and any required session activities, such as videos, audio files, websites and other learning activities. You need not complete the entire session in one sitting, but can do so at your own pace. However all work must be completed before the session time frame ends and the next begins.

2. Select Partner Content, then Select Content Market

![Partner Content screen]

Michelle Kaufmann's Platinum LEED Home Remodel: Start to Finish

With home remodels, especially sustainable ones designed by architects like Michelle Kaufmann, the answer may be to add more functionality to any space. In this Start to Finish home in San Francisco's East Bay to meet a growing family’s needs while obtaining the US
3. Select Browse All Content Providers (at bottom of window)

4. Select LinkedIn Learning with Lynda.com