

JOHN V. ROACH HONORS COLLEGE

DEAN

Texas Christian University

Texas Christian University (TCU) invites nominations and expressions of interest for the position of Dean of the John V. Roach Honors College. The University seeks a visionary leader who is dedicated to enriching the intellectual lives of students and faculty in the Honors College and across the broader TCU community.

Established in 1962, the TCU Honors Program was elevated to the John V. Roach Honors College in 2009. Attracting top students from across the U.S. and internationally, the College offers its 1,200 undergraduates (out of approximately 8,800) multiple avenues for pursuing excellence in academic research, experiential learning, and interdisciplinary study. Its four-year academic and co-curricular program is closely aligned with the University's distinctive emphasis on ethical leadership and responsible citizenship in a global context.

The new Dean will define and cultivate academic excellence among TCU students and faculty, and lead the Honors College through its next phase of development. The University seeks a strategic leader with demonstrated success in working with students, faculty, and staff across diverse academic units to foster interdisciplinary inquiry and programmatic innovation. The successful candidate will be a nationally recognized teacher-scholar with a strong record of academic leadership and professional accomplishment.

TCU is classified by U.S. News & World Report as a Tier 1 university and a Doctoral/Research university by the Carnegie Foundation. The Carnegie Commission lists TCU's undergraduate profile as "More Selective," its highest ranking. TCU is located in Fort Worth, Texas, the 16th largest city in the U.S. (located in a metropolitan area of more than 6 million), a city known for its vibrant economy, cultural district, and world-class arts and entertainment venues.

Requests for additional information should be directed to Dr. Robert Garnett, Chair, Honors Dean Search Committee (rgarnett@tcu.edu). Review of applications will begin on February 1, 2016, and continue until a suitable candidate is found. Please submit nominations or expressions of interest (including a current CV and a letter of interest) to:

Carnegie Mellon University

DEAN, MELLON COLLEGE OF SCIENCE

Carnegie Mellon University (CMU) invites nominations and applications for the position of Dean of the Mellon College of Science (MCS). The Dean will serve as a senior academic leader at one of the world's most prestigious global research universities, helping to build on the university's extraordinary momentum. The Dean will work closely with faculty and department heads to advance the mission, operations, and service of the College, building on the strong legacy of the past, while charting a course for an exciting and transformative journey in years to come. Reporting to the Provost, the Dean will also work closely with fellow deans, the President, and other senior leaders to support and guide interdisciplinary research and education initiatives that stand as a hallmark of the university.

The Dean is the leading academic, administrative, and financial officer of MCS, and oversees the recruitment of outstanding faculty and staff. The Dean also stimulates broad and creative thinking in the curricular development of the various programs and collaborative efforts among programs, departments, and centers. The Dean works collaboratively with department chairs, center directors, other deans and academic leaders to achieve academic excellence and impact.

MCS comprises four departments: biological sciences, chemistry, mathematical sciences, and physics. With 138 full-time faculty, 855 undergraduates, and 316 graduate students, MCS offers more than 30 degree programs, tracks, and minors, many of which are interdisciplinary. The College hosts more than a dozen research centers and institutes. MCS has a distinguished record of accomplishments, and has been home to nine alumni and faculty members who were awarded the Nobel Prize.

A member of the AAU, CMU is a global, research-intensive university with more than 13,000 students, 100,000 alumni, and 5,000 faculty and staff. Consistently ranked among top universities in national and global rankings, CMU is widely recognized as a world leader in scholarly enquiry in fields ranging from engineering, computer science and basic sciences to the performing arts, business and policy.

CMU is affiliated with 19 Nobel Laureates, 19 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 49 members of the National Academy of Engineering, 13 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 12 Turing Award recipients, 2 National Medal of Science winners, and 5 National Medal of Technology and Innovation winners. CMU faculty and alumni include Guggenheim and MacArthur Fellows, Wolf and Abel Prize recipients, and a National Book Award winner. In addition, former faculty and alumni have won six Academy Awards, 98 Emmy Awards, and 37 Tony Awards.

We seek excellence in a respectful, diverse, and inclusive University context. Nominations and applications will be held in confidence, and will be reviewed immediately. The university is committed to cultural diversity; women and individuals from underrepresented groups are especially encouraged to apply.

Confidential inquiries, nominations, and applications should be sent electronically via email (Microsoft Word or PDF attachments strongly preferred) to:

PRESIDENT

ALBERTUS MAGNUS COLLEGE

As Albertus Magnus College celebrates its 90th year of providing students with a vibrant liberal arts education, the Board of Trustees announces its search for its next President and invites applications and nominations for the position.

Located in New Haven, Connecticut, Albertus Magnus is a Catholic College in the Dominican tradition. The College embraces its Catholic and Dominican identity and remains an independent, fully accredited liberal arts, coeducational institution offering undergraduate and graduate programs in New Haven and at a satellite campus in East Hartford. The Albertus Magnus tagline, "We have faith in your future" speaks to the College's commitment to lifelong learning.

The President of Albertus Magnus College will have a combination of academic credentials, extensive executive experience and the ability to work collaboratively with the Board of Trustees, the members of the faculty and the administration as he/she strives to fulfill the mission and purposes of the institution. The next President will seek to address the challenges facing the College in today's rapidly changing, technology-driven higher education environment. The ideal candidate must be able to fully support, embrace and articulate the values of the College's Catholic identity, have a strong commitment to its Dominican heritage, and to its historical foundation in the liberal arts and its more contemporary effort to focus on an education which is also practical in its application. Albertus Magnus is among a small group of colleges that are free of external debt. For a complete profile, please visit www.Albertus.edu.

The review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the appointment is made. For full consideration, application materials are due by January 8, 2016. The Board of Trustees is expected to make an appointment by April 2016 and the new President will assume office no later than July 1, 2016.

Albertus Magnus College is being assisted in the search by Hyatt-Fennell, Executive Search. Nominations and application materials should be submitted via email to Cheryl Hyatt at Albertus@hyatt-fennell.com. Applications should include a letter of interest, a current résumé/curriculum vitae and complete contact information for five professional references. All applications and nominations will be considered highly confidential.
