

Doing Diversity, Reproducing Whiteness

With David Owen, PhD and Shelley Thomas, EdD

The facilitators will:

- Define diversity as a way of dismantling structures that generate inequities
- Provide an overview of implicit bias research
- Discuss how implicit bias is manifested in helping, benefitting, and privileging the in-group
- Discuss applications to the medical field

David Owen is Associate Professor of Philosophy and Director of Diversity Programs for the College of Arts and Sciences

Shelley Thomas is Assistant Professor and Diversity Committee Member for the College of Education and Human Development
