

ECPY 355 Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course:

Through personal exploration and group activities, students will be able to precisely describe their leadership styles in depth as demonstrated by the Leadership Celebration! assignment.

Students will create an analysis of group effectiveness and design specific responses for problems as demonstrated by their application of course concepts to a real campus group.

After being provided with a breadth of leadership topics, students will apply basic leadership concepts as demonstrated in reflective writing and assignments (book review presentation and case study presentation).
