Select Questions for Pivot

See how attendees responded to a question based on their response to another question by selecting both a column and row component. For example, a column component will have its responses listed horizontally, and a row component will have its listed vertically. When a question has more than 5 possible responses, it is best to choose that one as the row component (some questions with a large number of responses may only be allowed as the row component).
