S. Nassir Ghaemi, M.D., is a world-renowned psychiatrist and psychopharmacologist who is a professor at Tufts University and a lecturer on psychiatry at Cambridge Health Alliance Harvard Medical School. He is the author of multiple influential books including Clinical Psychopharmacology (Oxford University Press, 2019) and is winner of the Association of American Publishers 2020 PROSE award for excellence in the biological and life sciences. His book on leadership and mental illness, A First-Rate Madness, was a New York Times best seller. He has published over 300 scientific articles or book chapters and is a Distinguished Life Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine.

Donna M. Sudak, M.D., is an inspiring teacher and expert in cognitive-behavior therapy who is Professor and Vice Chair for Education in the Department of Psychiatry at Drexel University and Director of Residency and Psychotherapy Training at Tower Health. She has played a major role in developing curricula and guidelines for training in cognitive-behavior therapy and is an engaging workshop and course leader. Dr. Sudak is the author or co-author of many acclaimed books that are used in psychotherapy education and has served as President of the Academy of Cognitive Therapy and the American Association of Directors of Psychiatric Residency Training.

Laura M. Frey, Ph.D., LMFT, is a Licensed Marital and Family Therapist and an Associate Professor in the Kent School of Social Work & Family Science at the University of Louisville where she is the Program Director of the Couple & Family Therapy Program. Dr. Frey has extensive clinical experience providing suicide risk assessments and crisis intervention with individuals and their families. She studies the intersection of family processes and mental health. Previously funded by the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, she researches family dynamics after a family member attempts suicide.

Peter Yellowlees, M.D., BSc, MBBS, is a psychiatrist and Distinguished Emeritus Professor of Psychiatry at UC Davis, where he directs the Fellowship Program in Clinician Wellbeing. He is also CEO of AsyncHealth Inc, a telemedicine company he co-founded. Previously he was the inaugural Chief Wellness Officer at UC Davis Health (2018-22) and held the Alan Stoudemire Endowed Wellbeing Chair in Psychiatry. He was President of the American Telemedicine Association (2017-18) and has conducted research in the areas of psychiatry, telemedicine, and physician health. Dr. Yellowlees is the author of seven books and over 250 scientific articles.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

As a result of participating in this activity, participants should be able to:

1) Identify evidence-based options for pharmacotherapy of treatment-resistant depression.
2) Develop CBT formulations to address barriers to effective treatment.
3) Describe the role of cognitive-behavior therapy for difficult-to-treat depression.
4) Identify potential advantages and challenges in using family therapy for mood disorders.
6) Discuss the impacts of Covid-19 pandemic on mental health for children and adolescents.
7) Identify ways to support youth through continued adjustments, depression, and thoughts of suicide.
8) Describe the impact of an artist’s mental health on the creative process.
The aim of this conference is to expand participant’s knowledge and skills in the treatment of psychiatric disorders. With a focus on some of the most promising developments in mental health treatment, participants will learn about advanced methods for challenging clinical problems.

We thank our supporting and exhibiting companies for their participation in the 2022 Annual Depression. A final listing of supporters and exhibitors will be available at the meeting.
