To improve access to quality health care for adults with IDD, the University of Louisville School of Medicine, UofL School of Dentistry and the Lee Specialty Clinic are sponsoring the Third Annual Caring for Adults with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Conference. The conference will inform physical, occupational and speech therapists, physicians, dentists, social workers, patients and their caregivers about best current practices and future treatment directions for adults with IDD. Continuing education is supported, and individuals from the community are welcome to attend. There is no charge for this event.
