This activity was created to address the professional practice gaps listed below:

- Recognizing the need for patch testing to diagnose allergic and irritant contact dermatitis.
- Applying the modalities available to them for patch testing and appropriate use.
- Distinguishing the pertinent immunologic mechanisms for contact irritation and allergy.
- Coordinating health history information and symptomatology to appropriately patch test.
- Utilizing patient health histories and information regarding patient's product use in combination with patch test results to effectively diagnose and manage allergic contact dermatitis.
- Applying the criteria and timing for interpreting patch test results.
- Utilizing the resources available to them and to their patients to continually improve their patch testing effectiveness and health outcomes.

Legend

percent question responses
Proportion of a specific response (Qa) to the sum of all responses provided for that question (Qt).
percent of total question responses = Qa / Qt
(Example: X% of all responses to question Y were "A".)

† Percentages are calculated in three different ways. Click on the "Show Extended View" option at the top of the report to display the additional calculations. In cases where a question is required and only one response is allowed, all three percentages will be equal. The difference between the three calculations is most notable in a choose-all-that-apply question type that is optional.

| Non-Responders: | 59 | | |

As one of the participants of this educational activity, we want to encourage you to implement those ideas that were appropriate to your healthcare environment. We look forward to seeing you at future University of Louisville events. Thank you very much.

Legend

 percent question responses
 Proportion of a specific response (Qa) to the sum of all responses provided for that question (Qt).
 $percent\ of\ total\ question\ responses = Qa / Qt$
 (Example: X% of all responses to question Y were "A".)

[†] Percentages are calculated in three different ways. Click on the "Show Extended View" option at the top of the report to display the additional calculations. In cases where a question is required and only one response is allowed, all three percentages will be equal. The difference between the three calculations is most notable in a choose-all-that-apply question type that is optional.
