UofL Encrypted E-mail Services

Major change in encrypted email services

Information Technology Services announces a beneficial change in encrypted email services, with a switch to Microsoft's O365 message encryption. The Jan. 31 upgrade offers new options for sending encrypted emails. Users can securely send protected email messages to users inside and outside of UofL on any device. The new level of encryption, essential with regard to the sensitivity of data shared, provides increased protection both in-transit and with recipient identity validation.
