

New Web Address for Norton CME

The Norton Healthcare Center for Continuing Medical Education (CME) has a new web address, which provides one access point for all continuing medical education resources and information. This new site, NortonCME.com, provides access to account sign-in, transcripts, conference registration, brochures, online education programs and more.

For conferences and symposiums, NortonCME.com also provides all pertinent information, such as presentations, evaluation links, agendas and more. To access, select 'conference / symposium' details. This has been designed to function as a web-based app and therefore it does not require the downloading of an app or using a device's memory. Conference materials are conveniently accessible via a computer or any mobile device with the same process.

To claim attendance for grand rounds/tumor boards, go to NortonRSS.com. Once on this page, enter the meeting code provided at the session for attendance.

For easy directions, visit these links:

- Conference Symposium Materials
- Regularly Scheduled Series Check-in
- Creating a Bookmark/Shortcut
- Creating an account (new users only)

For quick and convenient access, create NortonCME.com and NortonRSS.com as bookmarks / shortcuts. (Please note: that as of May 1, the Norton Healthcare CME app will no longer function).

For more information or questions, please contact the Center for Continuing Medical Education at cme@nortonhealthcare.org.
