

RESEARCH!LOUISVILLE 2023

Oct 2 -October 6, 2023

Many opportunities are available to participate in various activities and present your work.

- The HSC Office of Diversity and Inclusion sponsors a guest speaker to present at Research!Louisville on diversity, equity, inclusion, and/or anti-racism-related research topics.
- Submitted your research for a poster presentation and be eligible for the Excellence in Health Disparities Research Award. The Excellence in Health Disparities Research Award focuses on research related to “population-specific differences in the presence of disease, health outcomes, or access to healthcare” (HRSA). The award is open to students, residents, fellows, faculty, and staff from the university community who submit research related to health disparities.
- Submit your equity and anti-racism-focused programming and/or research for an oral presentation.
- Stay tuned for an announcement when the abstract portal will open.
