

2019-20 Graduating Student Survey (GSS) – Graduate & Professional Students

Executive Summary

Background

The Graduating Student Survey (GSS) is administered each summer, fall, and spring semester to all master's, doctoral, and professional-level students who have submitted a degree application for graduation. The goal of this survey is to gather exit information from graduating students about their experiences at the university. Respondents are asked about their perception of—and satisfaction with—their time at UofL, including academic preparation, experience in their unit and their program, advising, faculty, and their plans following graduation. It should also be noted that Spring 2020 is categorized as the “Semester with an Asterisk”: a survey was not administered at this time due to the COVID-19 pandemic and transition to remote learning and operations.

Methodology

A PeopleSoft query was used to provide a listing of all graduate students who submitted a degree application in Summer 2019 and Fall 2019 for a total of 539 students. A total of 114 (21.15%) students responded to the survey; due to the low number of responses, caution should be used when attempting to generalize to the entire population of graduate/professional students.¹

Profile

Of the 114 students who responded to the survey, 61% are female, 62% are full-time students, 68% are White, 10% are African American, 9% are two or more races, 6% are Asian, and 4% are Hispanic/Latino.
