Defining Success

- One of only 69 universities in the United States to earn recognition by the Carnegie Foundation as both a Research 1 and Community Engaged university.
- UofL's new Center for Engaged Learning (CEL) provides a coordinated effort around experiential learning, undergraduate research and high-impact practices that enhance students' marketable skills. The CEL offers engaged learning opportunities to all interested undergraduate students, particularly Pell-eligible, underrepresented minority and first-generation college students.
- For the eighth year, UofL has been named a recipient of the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity Award from INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine.

Research & Innovation

- UofL achieved its highest research funding ever, $201.5 million in FY 2021. This follows the previous fiscal year's record-breaking research funding of $170 million.
- Since 1982, Kosair Charities has donated a total of $50.4 million to support programs in pediatric forensic medicine, neuro-recovery and cancer research along with the Center for Women & Infants at UofL Hospital.
- The Pandemic-Related Product Acceleration & Responsive Entrepreneurship Program, or PRePARE, partners UofL researchers with companies and community members to scale up innovative ideas about how to solve the long-term health, economic and societal problems resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic.

Partners for Business

UofL and Yum! Brands Inc. recently launched the Yum! Center for Global Franchise Excellence. The center features the first business program of its kind at a public university to provide existing and potential franchisees multiple levels of online education focused on the franchising model across industries. In addition, the center focuses on recruiting and educating underrepresented people of color and women on the possibilities of franchising as a pathway to entrepreneurship.

Breathing easier

UofL's pharmacology and toxicology department received $6.7 million over eight years from the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences through the Revolutionizing Innovative, Visionary Environmental health Research (RIVER) program to investigate how chromosome instability resulting from exposure to metals leads to lung cancer.

On the Students' Side

UofL's Student Success Center provides a wide array of resources for students throughout their college experience. Its goal is for students to succeed in their journey by offering support in advising, connection, academics, financial and other difficulties. Since the Student Success Center opened in 2018, it has awarded more than $1.5 million in small grants to 1,053 students. The grants average $1,500 and often are used to help students who have a financial barrier preventing them from graduating or registering for the next semester.

Premier Metropolitan University

UofL is dynamically connected to the local and global community.

- Working closely with community residents, Jefferson County Public Schools, Louisville Metro Government, Metro United Way, Louisville Urban League, faith-based organizations and many others, UofL has coordinated and enhanced existing programs and launched new programs designed to eliminate or reduce disparities that West Louisville residents experience in education, health, economic and social conditions.
- UofL's Additive Manufacturing Institute of Science & Technology, housed in the J.B. Speed School of Engineering, supports training for minority-owned businesses in West Louisville.
- UofL and Louisville Muhammad Ali International Airport (SDF) are collaborating on research that will enhance travelers' experience and airport operations through innovation. This is the first agreement of its kind for SDF, which will allow the airport campus – including all facilities, terminal and airfield – to serve as an innovation lab for UofL-led research projects.
