Statement:

As set forth in this policy, the university offers a designated public forum for free speech. Provided the person does not interfere with the educational process of the university and abides by the requirements of this policy, individuals and groups are allowed to express their views on any topic.

Use of the university's facilities does not mean that the individual or group speaking represents the institution or its ideals and principals. Members of the university community are free to walk away and not listen to any person speaking on campus.

Content and Manner

A. Content

Defamation, incitement to violence, and obscenity are prohibited, as herein defined.

1. Obscenity

No person or organization shall distribute or display on the campus any writing or visual image that is obscene.

2. Defamation

No person shall make, distribute, or display on the campus any statement that defames any other person. A statement unlawfully defames another person if it is false, if the false portion of the statement injures the reputation of the other person, and if the speaker has the constitutionally required state of mind as set forth in decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

3. Incitement to imminent violations of the law

No person shall make, distribute, or display on the campus any statements directed to inciting or producing imminent violations of law under circumstances such that the statements are likely to incite or produce violations of law.

B. Manner

Public speech and the distribution of literature must not threaten the safety of the members of the university community or interfere with the university's educational mission. The manner of speech or distribution of literature must comply with the following restrictions:

1. Harassment

No speaker or distributor of literature shall harass anyone.

2. Wearing of Masks (Metro Govt. General Provision 130.01)

No person shall enter, be or appear on the university campus, while wearing any mask whereby a substantial portion of the face is hidden or covered so as to conceal the identity of the wearer.

3. Impediment of movement

No person may deliberately impede the flow of pedestrians or vehicular traffic on campus.

4. Coercion

No person may attempt to coerce, intimidate, or badger any other person into listening to speech or into reviewing or accepting a copy of any literature distributed.

5. Demanding Attention

No person may persist in requesting or demanding the attention of any other person after that individual has attempted to walk away from or has clearly refused to listen to the speaker or has not accepted the distributed literature.

6. Identification of Distributor

All literature distributed on campus must include the identity of the registered person(s) or organization as well as a valid and complete contact address and telephone number.

7. No Sales

No literature may be for sale or dispersed with the expectation of a donation. Individuals or groups who seek to advertise or sell goods or to distribute material for commercial purposes should contact the Student Activities Office.

8. No Litter

Any person(s) distributing literature on campus must remove all copies from the ground within 30 feet of the designated area before leaving campus.

9. Signage

Persons registered to distribute literature or speak on campus may carry or wear signs, but must exercise care not to bump, injure or hit any other person. Signs may not promote items for sale. Sign handles must be made of cardboard or other pliable material.

10. Amplification

Because of the proximity of the public speech areas to classrooms, no amplification will be permitted.

Compliance with Policy

A. Violations

Failure to abide by the terms of this document will result in the Dean of Students Office (or designee) or law enforcement employee directing the violating individual(s) to leave campus. In cases of marginal disruption, administrators or law enforcement officials will clearly identify the behavior or speech violating this procedure, and seek voluntary compliance before removing an individual or individuals from campus or resorting to charges and/or arrest.

Upon a violation, the Dean of Students Office will schedule a meeting with the individual or organization representative within 20 workdays to impose a restriction from campus for a period of up to six months. Appeals in writing may be made to the Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students within 10 workdays of imposition of the restriction from campus. The Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students (or designee) will review the appeal and will make a written response to the appeal within 15 workdays. The decision of the Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students is final.

B. Failure to Register

Unregistered individuals speaking or distributing literature who come to the attention of the university will be removed from campus by law enforcement personnel. Such persons will be permitted to return to speak or distribute literature only after complying with the terms of the registration procedure described herein.

C. Failure to Appear

Because the university seeks to accommodate and manage the requests of multiple individuals and groups to speak on campus, a failure to appear at the date and time for which an individual or group has registered will constitute a violation of this procedure, and three such instances within a twelve-month period will trigger the provisions of Section 6(A).

Related Information:

Security

The university will provide security if it deems that the speaker or distributor of literature may engender a strong or hostile response. The university is not liable for any injury or destruction of property the individual or organization may incur as a result of the lack or failure of any security measures.

Location

Public areas include the grass and sidewalk areas of the university and do not include buildings and outdoor instructional, athletic or sports venues.

The university has identified certain campus public areas where public speech and distribution of literature will be permitted. All speakers and distributors of literature will be assigned to those areas.

Definitions:

Literature: Includes any printed material, including any newspaper, magazine or other publication, and any leaflet, flyer, or other informal printed matter intended for distribution or actually distributed to members of the university community.

Obscenity: As set forth in KRS 531.010 or successor provisions, and within the constitutional definition of obscenity as set forth in decisions of the United States Supreme Court, obscenity includes materials (a) as to which the predominant appeal is to prurient interest in sexual conduct, (b) which is depicted or described in a patently offensive way, (c) that when taken as a whole lacks serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific merit.

Harassment: As set forth in KRS 525.070, harassment includes the following: when with intent to harass, annoy or alarm another person he or she: strikes, shoves, kicks, or otherwise subjects a person to physical contact; or attempts or threatens to strike, shove, kick, or otherwise subject the person to physical contact; or follows a person in or about a public place or places.
