Clinical Psychology Doctoral Program

University of Louisville

The PhD program in Clinical Psychology at the University of Louisville is accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA). For further information about APA accreditation or specific information about the accreditation status of our doctoral program please contact: Jacqueline Remondet Wall, PhD Director, Office of Program Consultation and Accreditation, American Psychological Association, 750 First Street NE Washington DC 20002-4242, (202) 336-5979, <http://www.apa.org/ed/accreditation>

The Committee on Accreditation at APA requires that accredited programs provide the following data to the public:

- Time to completion, from admission to graduation
- Program costs
- Internship success rates
- Attrition rates
- Licensure rates

The Clinical Psychological Doctoral Program provides this information, below, to fulfill this requirement.
Please note that the information and data provided below are based on the past 10 years, unless otherwise noted.

Program Disclosures

Students entering the program with graduate courses from another program may request no more than 3 core courses be waived, provided the appropriate instructors judge them to be of equivalent content. In no circumstances may graduate course credit be granted for undergraduate courses or projects. Substitutions of projects or other experience for required courses will not be permitted.

The expected timeline is 5 years on campus followed by 1 year on internship (6 years). It is rare for our students to exceed 7 years.

NOTE: Starting in the 2020-2021 application cycle, GRE scores became an optional part of our program application and are not viewed as part of admissions decisions for all applicants. Thus, starting in 2020-2021, we will no longer report GRE data here.
The above table provides important information on our admissions, consistent with recommendations from the Council of University Directors of Clinical Psychology (<http://cudcp.org/>).
