

Haidan Chen
Assistant Researcher
Zhejiang University, China

Dr Haidan Chen gained both an M.A.(2004-2006) and Ph.D (2006-2009) in the Philosophy of Science and Technology at Zhejiang University. She was a visiting postgraduate researcher at the Institute for the Study of Science Technology and Innovation (ISSTI), the University of Edinburgh, UK (2006-2007); an exchange student of the European Union 6th Research Framework project BIONET (Ethical Governance of Biological and Biomedical Research: Chinese-European Co-operation), and visited the University of York, London School of Economics, and the University of Vienna (2008); a visiting scholar at the Brocher Foundation, Switzerland (2011); a Fulbright visiting scholar at the Center for Biomedical Ethics, Stanford University. She was a postdoctoral research fellow at Zhejiang University and Asia Research Institute, National University of Singapore before she joined China Agricultural University in 2013.

Haidan Chen also is an Associate Professor (2013-) of the Department of Management Sciences, College of Humanities and Development Studies, China Agricultural University. She was Research Fellow and Postdoctoral Fellow at the National University of Singapore (2012-2013), and Postdoctoral Fellow at Zhejiang University (2009-2012). She gained both an M.A. and Ph.D in the Philosophy of Science and Technology at Zhejiang University, and B.A. in English at Shenyang University. She was a Brocher Foundation visiting scholar; an exchange student of the European Union 6th Research Framework project BIONET (Ethical Governance of Biological and Biomedical Research: Chinese-European Co-operation), and visited the University of York, the London School of Economics, and the University of Vienna; a visiting postgraduate researcher at the Institute for the Study of Science Technology and Innovation (ISSTI), the University of Edinburgh. Her research interests include science and technology studies, medical sociology, bioethics, and science and technology policy. Her current research relates to the social, ethical, policy issues and the governance of biomedicine, in particular stem cell translational research, biobanks, and biomarkers.

She is currently a Professor at the Department of Sociology, College of Humanities and Development Studies, China Agricultural University.

END OF DOCUMENT