POLYPHARMACY INITIATIVE AND ENDOWED PROGRAM

2007 Recruited from Honolulu to lead the University of Louisville Polypharmacy Initiative. A philanthropist had gifted money to the U of L Dept. of Family and Geriatrics to work on the problem of polypharmacy. My work initially consisted of designing and strategic planning of this program. The mission statement which I developed: "U of L Polypharmacy Initiative is dedicated to Education, Research, and Outreach to fight the problems of polypharmacy."

2015 The polypharmacy initiative became an endowed program now named: "The Frazier Polypharmacy and Medication Management Program" which I am the lead of and we have moved the program to the Dept. of Pharmacology and Toxicology to interact with an increased amount of new learners. The experience of the first few years while in a clinical department informed us that there needs to be improved education at the new professional level in an effort to provide strong medication management skills ranging from drug mechanistic consideration to patient and health system factors, and this is best accomplished through a basic science department.

The program still maintains a strong post grad learner element through a busy clinical service as well as involvement in CME, CPE, CNE and other outreach programs.
