

FACULTY SENATE REPORT TO STAFF SENATE

MARCH, 2022

The University of Louisville Faculty Senate met on March 1, 2022. The meeting was called to order by chairman David Schultz at 3:00 PM.

We voted on two action items:

- A second reading of the A&S Personnel Document, the changes to which largely dealt with tenure and promotion qualifications and faculty members' rights in voting on tenure and promotion cases.
- Approval of a new program: the MA in Applied Philosophy – Health Care Ethics. It's designed for students and health care professionals who want to prepare for ethical leadership or consulting positions in medicine, nursing, social work, and other fields connected to health care.

Other than the reports from the senate committees, there was no other business.

Respectfully submitted,

Timothy Roberts,
Adjunct Faculty Senator
Senior Lecturer I / Dual-Credit Instructor, Department of English
